PRICE FIVE CENTS

Ark Aground

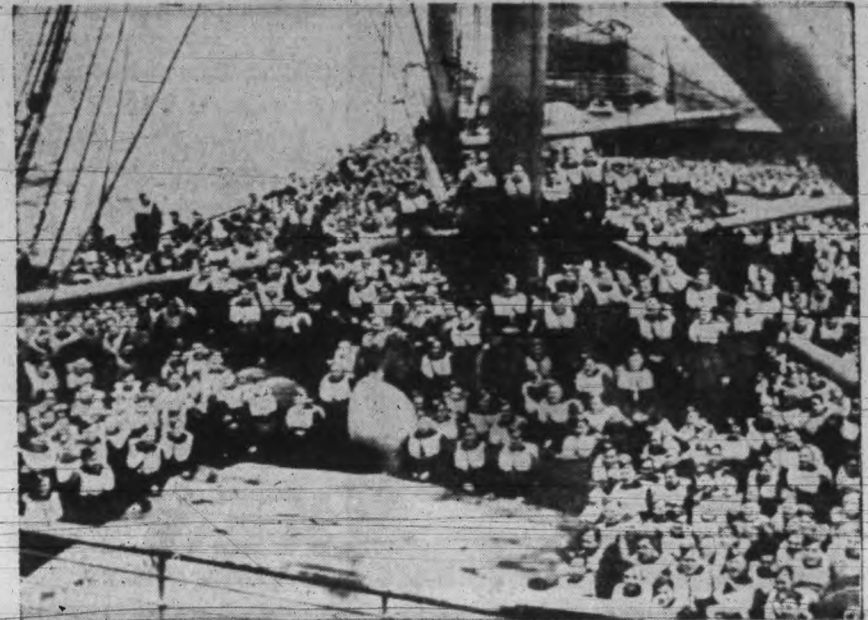

Two days after leaving Tacoma on a voyage to Alaska, the weird ark, Arc of Juneau, runs hard aground on a beach near Seattle. Owner Paul Satko spent three years building the craft, which marine officials have declared unseaworthy. To safeguard the lives of his five children Satko was taking with him, police removed them to institutions. Satko was arrested when he protested. (Acme).

'No Political Significance'

Friends of 30 years, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Mackenzie King confer at the Little White House, Warm Springs, Georgia, in a visit that both emphasized involved "no question of American or Canadian policy." (Acme telephoto).

Arriving in Norway

British fighting men crowd the deck as another transport nears Norwegian shores to reinforce the first "suicide squad," who without adequate artillery equipment went out to hold the Germans whose airplanes slew many, who didn't even have white camouflage against the snow. (Acme telephoto).

Final Bulletins

ALASKA ROAD PLAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States section of the Alaska International Highway Commission, in a report submitted to President Roosevelt, this afternoon recommended a route to tap the pan-handle section of Alaska.

It was said the President and Prime Minister Mackenzie discussed the road proposal at a conference in Warm Springs, Ga., this week.

Ships' Radios Sealed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Acting in compliance with a presidential proclamation defining Norway as a "belligerent" country, coastguard crews met two incoming Norwegian vessels today and sealed their radios for duration of their stay in port.

The ships are the Thor I and the Corneville.

Russia Resells Copper

NEW YORK (AP)—Russian interests, substantial purchasers of American copper several months ago, were reported in trade circles this afternoon to be offering the red metal for resale in the domestic market, possibly because of unwillingness to risk the Allied blockade.

Boy Kills Girl

ABINGTON, Pa. (AP)—A 16-year-old Glenside, Pa., boy admitted this afternoon, David Groshens, assistant district attorney, said that he shot and killed Edith Snyder, 16, as she sat in her living room last night studying high school lessons.

Fleming Still Fights

LONDON (CP)—The War Office announced tonight that reports that Capt. Peter Fleming, young English journalist and author, had been killed in Norway were "without foundation."

Premier's Son Refugee

LONDON (CP)—The son of Norwegian Premier Johan Ygaardsvold was among the latest refugees to reach Sweden from Norway, according to a radio broadcast from Stockholm heard in London this evening.

SUFFERED SEVERE ELECTRICAL SHOCK

James Black, 3572 Quadra Street, is in St. Joseph's Hospital recovering from a severe electrical shock suffered in contact with a high voltage wire while at work at the B.C. Electric sub-station on Bay Street this morning.

He contacted a 60,000-volt wire and collapsed. Prompt work by safety men at the plant brought him around, however, and was taken to hospital where he was attended by Dr. E. C. Hart. Black, 55 years old, was lucky to escape alive, according to reports.

The accident short-circuited wires of the electric sub-station about 11:30. The short circuit shut off the city's electrical power for approximately 10 seconds.

LICENSES RENEWED FOR SOOKE TRAPS

OTTAWA—Licenses to continue operation of salmon fishing traps at Sooke, B.C., are to be reissued, it is announced by the Department of Marine and Fisheries here.

The Sloan report on the industry into the operation of traps at Sooke and other fisheries matters on the B.C. coast will not be made public until tabled in the House next month, but decision of the department to renew the licenses is interpreted as indicating that the report is favorable to the contention of the Sooke fishing industry that retention of the traps in that area is in the national interest.

INDUSTRY SAVED

Renewal of licenses to operate fish traps at Sooke was received here today with satisfaction because it means the perpetuation of the salmon industry at Sooke. As the Sloan inquiry, covering 2,000 pages of testimony, was comprehensive and exhaustive on all phases of the industry and conditions at Sooke, its results are accepted as meaning that controversy which has been waged over the traps for some years, has now been finally ended.

Island Seized

HONGKONG (CP)—The China Mail today said Japanese domination Chinese troops have seized full control of Lappa Island, part of which belongs to Portugal. Authorities of the nearby Portuguese port of Macao made no comment on the situation.

Key Battle for Trondheim

Planes, Troops Join British in Norway

LONDON (CP)—Competent military quarters today amplified and explained to the public for the first time the difficulties which have limited the Allied army, compelled to challenge German forces already in Norway, but emphasized that "this has not affected, and will not affect, the determination of the Allies to go on with the job and see it through."

Although fresh limited withdrawals south of Dombas in central Norway, 100 miles southwest of Trondheim, were reported, an authoritative source said hardened French troops and artillery were now behind the British "Tommy" manning the main Allied line three or four miles north of Steinkjer. The Allied troops, with the Norwegians, were said to have "re-established the situation" and to be now holding their positions.

The authorities said it should be remembered that the sudden attack by the Germans on a friendly country had inevitably given the Nazi forces the initial advantage. They added, "We who were not prepared to adopt such methods, thus may be said to have lost the first trick in so far as the Germans were there and we were not."

PLANES JOIN FIGHT

While the Germans were making colossal efforts to push forward their troops from the south with the main objective of linking the principal force in the south with the garrison holding Trondheim, the British forces succeeded in getting to Norway a first batch of fighter aircraft. These experienced fighters are expected to teach the German bombers they can no longer carry out raids with impunity.

(Dispatches by way of Stockholm today said there were indications the Allies had received new aerial equipment and told of fights with German bombers. Nazi air activity in the Trondheim sector decreased. See story on Page 2).

Less than 24 hours after the announcement of a setback at Steinkjer, 50 miles northeast of Trondheim, the War Office issued this fresh communique: "Allied troops in southern Norway have been heavily engaged south of Dombas by strong enemy forces supported by medium artillery, armored fighting vehicles and low-flying aircraft. Limited withdrawals have been necessary. In the area north of Steinkjer there has been no engagement, but patrols have been active. There is nothing to report from the Narvik area" (in the far north).

The Allied forces, observers admitted, face a desperate struggle in attempting to prevent the superior German forces linking the main army with the garrison at Trondheim. If they should fail, the Allied forces would be confined to the barren northern area and faced with the costly job of reconquering the south of Norway later. That, one source said, would be "an extremely difficult position."

Meanwhile newspaper editorials warned the public to disregard "hysterical" stories from the United States and accept the War Office communique. The London Evening News said: "There is no doubt that tough fighting is going on unceasingly and the facts of the situation must be faced honestly and courageously without any self-deception. For the sake of their prestige, the Allies were compelled to embark on a vast, hazardous campaign with all the dice loaded against them. We met the German challenge in Norway without flinching, but the road glittering with successes there will not be an easy one."

IMPORTANT POINT

Dombas is a railway junction on the main line from Oslo to Trondheim through the Gudbrandsdalen. This line is joined there by another coming south from Andalsnes, the sea port which is reported to have been one of the British landing points.

It is thus a vital point between Oslo, 150 miles to the south, and Trondheim, both held by the Germans. Both sides were said to be racing guns and men toward a decisive action around Trondheim.

The communique announcing the "limited withdrawals" supported the comment of neutral military observers that it was extremely difficult for lengthy armed troops to hold positions against strafing airplanes co-operating with artillery and armored vehicles.

Although British military sources conceded Germany had "the best of it" in the air in the opening phase, the air ministry announced that R.A.F. fighter craft and anti-aircraft guns had brought down eight enemy planes and damaged nine others in "vigorous offensive action" in Norway yesterday and last night.

For the first time the ministry announced action by R.A.F. planes in the north. The announcement stated that "five of our aircraft are missing" and others had been damaged by bombing attacks.

INCOME TAX DUE

Department of National Revenue officials today reminded the public that the statutory date by which individuals and certain corporations are required to file a return of income for the year 1939 is April 30. After this date a mandatory penalty for late filing is operative. Rates of tax effective on 1938 incomes have been increased in respect of 1939 incomes by a 20 per cent war surtax.

Gas Supply Halted In Price Cut Defy

British Columbia faced a gasoline famine today when, as the provincial government tried to enforce its price-fixing order, oil companies suspended deliveries to retailers.

One station after another in Victoria sold out of gas during the morning and few expected they would have any left by tonight.

Provision was made for bus companies, taxis and essential services to secure necessary supplies.

Hectic Day For Gas Buyers

Developments of a hectic day were: A gasoline selling boom as virtually all retailers began serving at the price fixed by the Coal and Petroleum Control Board. (In Victoria this was 25 cents for regular and 27 cents for premium).

Announcement by the petroleum industries they had suspended deliveries to gas stations. Declaration by Premier Pattullo that "the government will be obliged to consider its position and the position of the people in the light of this sudden and unannounced development."

Statements by station after station that they had stopped selling gas because tanks were empty.

Further Action Premier Hints

At press time this afternoon both the oil companies and the government were standing pat. The uppermost question in the minds of most motorists was "Where do we get our gas?"

The statement issued by Premier Pattullo implied that the government plans some further action if the gasoline deliveries are not resumed. But there was no hint of what this might be.

Wild rumors that the government might commandeer existing wholesale plants were absolutely without confirmation in official sources.

Essential Services Cared For

While deliveries to retailers were suspended by oil distributors, local managers of some companies said they were still supplying essential services. "We are delivering to hospitals and other services connected with the sick," said the Shell Oil Company manager. "Otherwise our plant is closed."

P. E. Corcoran, Imperial Oil manager here, said no deliveries were being made.

When the government was advised of the stand taken by the companies, the gasoline situation became the main topic of discussion at the provincial cabinet council meeting.

NO ALTERNATIVE

The statement issued afterwards by Premier Pattullo follows: "The announcement of the oil companies that they propose to refuse further deliveries of gasoline to the people of British Columbia is a surprising one."

"From the time of the decision in the Court of Appeal, the highest court of the province, upholding the validity of the legislation, the order reducing the price has been effective, subject to an arrangement proposed by the oil companies themselves and accepted by the government that no proceedings would be taken to enforce the order until the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada. When this decision was handed down, we had no alternative but to enforce the order in the same way as we enforce the other laws of the province."

"The only tribunal who could alter the order was the Coal and Petroleum Control Board. No application was made to the board. No notice was given by the oil companies that they would dislocate the business of the country in disregard of the arrangement made by them before the Court of Appeal and implemented by an order of that court."

"The oil companies suggest that they did not know the order would be made effective and at such short notice that they could not consult their head offices. This is in complete variance with the facts."

"As a matter of law, and under arrangement made in the Court of Appeal, the order became effective when the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada was handed down, and could only be altered upon application by the oil companies to the control board. Instead of adopting this course they have chosen, without consultation or advice, to adopt the arbitrary stand indicated by their statement, with the resultant dislocation of essential business and inconvenience and hardship to the people of this province."

The government will be obliged to consider its position and the position of the people in the light of this sudden and unannounced development."

OUT OF GAS

After the greatest booms in gas selling that the operators could remember, service stations one by one dropped from the competition as their pumps gurgled from dry tanks.

By 1 this afternoon a pump survey showed that approximately half the stations were completely out of gas. Others had anything from 100 to 300 gallons left and were serving it out as fast as they could.

Most optimistic comment came from one big station, where the service operator said: "I think we can hold out until 6 tonight."

Most of the others were not so sanguine.

"Just two gallons of ethyl left," said one operator. "We've a little left, but you'd better hurry," said another. "About two hours left," was one comment.

"We've been all through since 11:30," reported one of the major stations.

"The announcement of the oil companies that they propose to refuse further deliveries of gasoline to the people of British Columbia is a surprising one."

town station. "We've got a few gallons apiece for our regular customers."

When the buying boom started this morning, ten and a dozen cars lined up at some stations.

At first operators began to sell every gallon they could, but as it became apparent they were going to run dry some began to ration their sales.

One operator said he had never seen so many "strangers" at his station and after a time he refused to serve them and saved what gas he had for regular customers.

Many stations reported they had phone calls from their steady buyers asking to have a tank full saved.

"You'll have to hurry because we can't save it," he told them.

In several business offices routine was disrupted as one car owner after another dashed out to "fill 'er up."

While all the regular stations had to reduce their prices to the new level this morning it was pointed out that at least one company has been selling right along at 26 cents. In Duncan and nearby points up-island the price has been 25 cents for nearly a year.

Service Stations Agree to New Price

The service station division, Retail Merchants' Association, decided to conform with the price order and so instructed its members, George R. Matthews, secretary, announced here.

Mr. Matthews conferred here first thing this morning with Attorney-General Wismer.

Afterwards, he said: "I have wired our members in Vancouver and told them here to conform in every respect with the board's order and sell at the new prices."

"So far as I know all our stations are observing the government's prices."

Mr. Matthews said that as a result of the sudden turn of events this morning meetings of the executives of the Victoria and Vancouver branches have been called for tonight to discuss the situation.

At a meeting in Vancouver last night service station men decided to obey the price order.

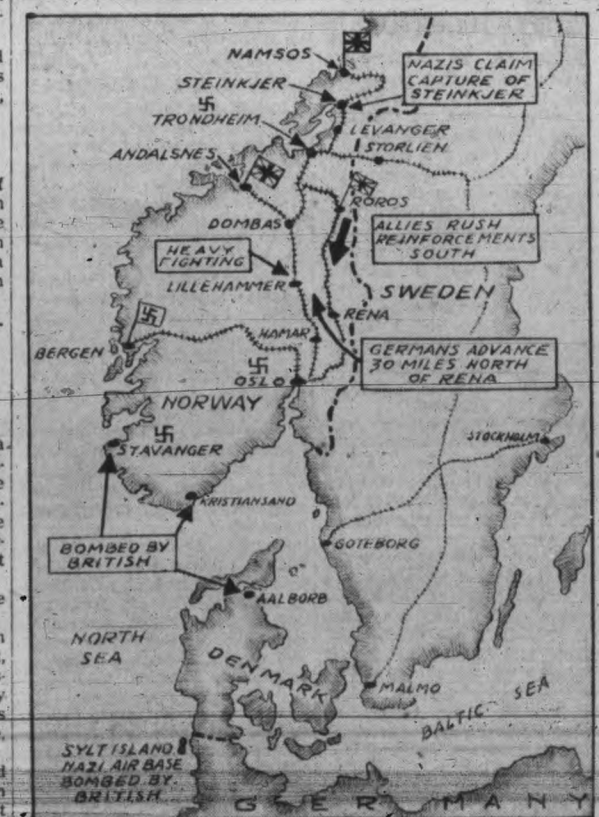

"When I left to come over here I thought everything was fixed up," Mr. Matthews said. "We were taken by surprise this morning. We were not prepared for this."

He said that gas stations obtained their present supplies at the old prices. The new price gives them only a one-cent spread per gallon on today's sales.

"However, they are accepting this," he added.

Mr. Matthews said some stations in Vancouver had been told by companies they could get gas at the old price providing they collected it themselves from the storage yards.

The War Today

By GUY RHOADES

SWEDEN?

"Tomorrow's secret" is expected to answer the question whether Germany intends to invade Sweden.

The term was used today by a French war ministry spokesman, who reported Nazi troopships had moved out of Baltic ports, bound for a destination unknown to the Allies who watched closely, concerned lest Hitler extend the war in the north.

Sweden has taken extraordinary precautions to guard against an invasion, but the Allies would have great difficulty in going to her immediate assistance, because their naval forces would have to sail through the narrow seas around the Danish islands to get into the Baltic.

AID

What made spectators particularly nervous was the fact that the ports from which the German troopships sailed are much closer to southern Sweden than they are to any place in Norway. It would be logical to suppose that they are destined to land troops in Sweden, rather than carry reinforcements to Nazi soldiers in Norway.

Both Britain and France have assured the Swedes they will help them if their country is invaded, but it appeared any help they could give would have to be sent overland, possibly over the iron ore route through the Norwegian Arctic port of Narvik, as soon as the remaining Germans are cleared out of there.

Reports that German troops were being embarked at Baltic ports were heard for the first time on Wednesday after the

Norway to Pay Cash

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States munitions sales to Norway went on a "cash and carry" basis today as the presidential proclamation extended operations of the Neutrality Act to that embattled country.

The action also had the effect of cancelling the $10,000,000 credit recently granted to Norway by the Export-Import Bank.

More R.A.F. Planes in Norway

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Reports reaching Swedish newspapers late today indicated the Allied and Norwegian forces on the front below Trondheim have inflicted considerable losses on German advance units, forcing them back to a point five miles south of Roros.

The Allied troops, coming down the Glomma valley from their concentration point at Storen, brought light artillery into action.

Behind the Nazi advance column, German units were reported digging in the Osterdalen some 10 to 15 miles below Roros, after retreating from that city.

Artillery had come into play by late afternoon on both sides, and the cannonading could be heard from the Swedish frontier, 20 miles from the scene of the fighting.

MORE ALLIED PLANES

There was evidence the Allies had received new aerial equipment. German air activity in the Trondheim sector fell off considerably, and there were reports of minor air battles in several places between British fighter planes and German bombers.

One German plane was reported shot down after a fight with three British planes near the Swedish frontier.

The British command was said to have curbed German air activity at its Namsos landing point above Trondheim, by installing anti-aircraft batteries.

Roros, from which the Germans retired when the Allies moved down from Storen, is 70 miles southeast of Trondheim.

COLUMN STOPPED

In the Gudbrandsdalen valley to the west another flying Nazi column appeared to have bogged down at Ringebu, some 160 miles south of Trondheim.

The British position around Trondheim itself, meanwhile, was reported improved by the arrival of crack French troops, including Foreign Legionnaires and Alpine soldiers.

The Germans continued, however, to pour a steady stream of reinforcements into Trondheim by air transport, each capable of carrying 30 men. There also were reports that a German ship had managed to evade the British blockade and enter Trondheim Fjord with supplies.

The German situation at the Arctic port of Narvik was said to be becoming more precarious. Some sources estimated the Nazi force there, carrying on from mountain positions around the town with the aid of munitions

Nazis Lose Ground On Roros Front

By ELMER W. PETERSON
STOCKHOLM (AP)—Reports reaching Swedish newspapers late today indicated the Allied and Norwegian forces on the front below Trondheim have inflicted considerable losses on German advance units, forcing them back to a point five miles south of Roros.

IN NEW POSITIONS

The Norwegian high command, in a communique issued late last night, said the Norwegians, reinforced by British troops, were occupying "new prepared positions" astride the Gudbrandsdalen valley after a 30-mile withdrawal yesterday from Lillehammer.

British pursuit planes, apparently newly arrived in Norway, were "keeping watch" on the valley, the Norwegians said.

Swedish dispatches indicated the British troops had tightened their hold on strategically important Storen, 35 miles south of Trondheim, where the parallel railway lines which the Germans have been following through the Osterdalen and Gudbrandsdalen valleys converge.

British forces attempting to close in on Trondheim from the north were reported being held at bay near Steinkjer, 50 miles to the northeast, by the guns of three German destroyers in inner Trondheim Fjord.

The Swedish newspaper Svenska Dagbladet, however, said that a British cruiser had succeeded in slipping past Agdenes fortress at the mouth of the fjord and had engaged the Nazi vessels. The British yesterday reported the fortress had been bombed from the air.

NEW AIR BASE

The same paper also asserted that the Royal Air Force has established a secret air base somewhere north of Trondheim, that British aircraft carriers are off the Norwegian coast and that they now are prepared to challenge German supremacy in the air.

The point at which the Germans were reported digging in in the Osterdalen valley was near the hamlet of Tolga, about 165 miles north of Oslo.

Twenty ambulances passed the Swedish border at one point. Four hundred fugitives—including 300 Norwegian soldiers who were interned—crossed at another frontier station.

Swedish newspapers reported the Germans were continuing to land reinforcements daily at Oslo, apparently with the intention of making a determined effort to establish land communications between the capital and Trondheim, 250 miles away.

There were reports here that two German steamships of 3,000 to 5,000 tons had been sunk in the southern part of narrow Oresund Strait, which separates Sweden and Denmark. Cause of the sinkings was unexplained.

The Norwegian government, meanwhile, issued a provisional order stipulating that British and French money should be accepted as legal tender in Norway.

ATTACK

Meanwhile, the Allies manoeuvred to get a grip on defence lines in Norway from which they could launch more energetic attacks against the invader. The War Office in London said they had lost the first trick, but pointed out that Germany had obtained an initial advantage by seizing five—possibly six—air ports in Norway.

However, Allied fighter aircraft have been sent to Norway, and the situation is expected to improve, especially now that a considerable body of tough, seasoned French troops has been landed to reinforce the British, who first gained a foothold in the little kingdom.

Three German destroyers are reported sheltering. They probably will have to be cleared out by naval units or heavy bombers before troops can approach Trondheim without danger from flanking gunfire.

The French War Ministry said British and French naval units in turn were patrolling the Skagerrak, ready to pounce on Nazi convoys should they prove to be destined for Norway, and not Sweden. To get to Norway they must pass through the Skagerrak.

Reich Declaration Coming Tomorrow

BERLIN (AP)—An unusual invitation to foreign correspondents to gather at the Berlin chancellery tomorrow to hear Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop read "a declaration of the Reich's government" aroused speculation today.

It was indicated the declaration on "the political situation" would be broadcast. The time was set at 2.30 p.m. (4.30 a.m., P.S.T.). Sweden, next door to the spreading war in Norway, was mentioned prominently in discussions of its probable contents.

Foreign observers immediately speculated on the possibility of a week-end "surprise."

Foreign correspondents were asked to be at the chancellery at 1.45 p.m., and the fact that a nation-wide broadcast was arranged for the proclamation indicated it will be of more than ordinary importance.

Speculation recalled two topics that have figured prominently in recent comment of authorized German circles, the suggestion that "Sweden's day of decision" is near and that alleged British bombings of undefended towns (flatly denied in London) might call for "bomb for bomb" reprisals by Germany.

Plane Factory Damaged

LONDON (CP)—Fire destroyed one wing and some machinery at a government aircraft factory near Denham today.

Pacific Blockade To Be Increased By British Fleet

LONDON (AP)—Great Britain is counting on friendly relations with Russia and Japan and also on increased fleet activity in the Pacific Ocean to close the Vladivostok crack in the Allied blockade of Germany.

Informed sources today said better relations with Japan were being sought and conciliatory gestures made toward the Soviet Union in an about-face from the bitter hostility existing during the Russian-Finnish war.

Britain and Japan were reported nearer an agreement on the disposal of Chinese government claimed silver which is held in the British and French consessions at Tientsin, scene of British-Japanese tension for 10 months. The Royal Navy also is endeavoring to manoeuvre its Pacific blockade ships so as not to offend Japanese feelings.

In renewing British-Russian trade pact overtures, Britain sought assurance Russian imports would not be transhipped to Germany and that only a minimum of Russia's own products would be sold the Reich.

The Russians were said to have agreed to the first stipulation, but to insist their nation's internal economy requires normal dealings with Germany in Russian products. Britain, however, may try to cut the ground from this stand by outbidding Germany for Russian goods.

GREAT DAILY SHIPMENTS

Importance to Britain of plugging the Vladivostok blockade gap was emphasized by figures given out by the Ministry of Economic Warfare saying 1,000 tons of various goods are shipped daily from Vladivostok to Germany by way of the Trans-Siberian Railway.

The spokesman said the ministry was interested in Tokyo reports that approximately 70,000 metric tons of copper had been shipped from the United States to Russia since the war began, compared with an average of 6,000 tons a year previously.

The United States shipped Russia, no tin or rubber in 1938, but in the first six months of the war sent 6,000 tons of tin and 2,000 tons of rubber; these figures indicated.

Russians in London said the larger imports were explained partly by the fact it was difficult or impossible to get these materials from British sources in wartime. The Finnish campaign also created a drain on Russian supplies.

NEW DIESEL PLANE

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Daily News says in a dispatch from Washington today that it has learned an airplane powered with a Diesel engine with a cruising range "50 per cent greater than any gasoline motor" was displayed at Bolling Field yesterday before high officials of the United States Army.

VALERA DIRECTS BOMB INQUIRY

DUBLIN (CP)—Bombing of the Eire government's special detective branch headquarters in Dublin Castle, allegedly by the outlawed Irish Republican Army, came under the personal investigation of Prime Minister Eamon de Valera today.

Five detectives were injured, none seriously, in blast yesterday morning, caused by detonation of either a time bomb or a land mine. It threw tons of debris—masonry, costly blue and gold stained glass memorial windows—into the courtyard of the old castle, in the heart of the Irish capital.

The scene thereafter resembled the aftermath of an air raid. Damage to the Chapel Royal, where the memorial windows were shattered, was described as irreparable.

The families of several castle caretakers escaped death when the bomb went off. One detective owed his life to the fact he was on duty at the time of the blast. A ton of debris crashed into the bed he usually occupied at that time of the morning.

Authorities believe the deaths in prison last week of two I.R.A. hunger strikers incited the bombing. It is said the explosive probably was planted Wednesday evening.

Dublin Castle, formerly residence of the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, contains the "one little spot" in Eire which remains under partial control of Great Britain. The Ulster office of arms in Dublin Castle is under joint control of the Eire government and the United Kingdom.

JUGOSLAVIA, RUSSIA START TRADE TALKS

MOSCOW (AP)—Arrival of a Yugoslav economic delegation to negotiate a trade treaty with Soviet Russia was announced today by Tass News Agency.

The group was welcomed yesterday at the railway station by a party of officials.

(Two days ago Vice-Premier Vladimir Macek of Yugoslavia said conclusion of a trade pact with Russia would be followed by resumption of diplomatic relations, nonexistent since the Russian revolution.)

A Zagreb newspaper, the usually government-inspired Novosti, said Yugoslavia and the Soviets were "brought together through London" and diplomats noted the coincidence of another start in London on negotiations toward a British-Russian trade treaty with which the British hope to strike at Germany.

Novosti said the Russians had told the British when agreeing to take up trade relations with Yugoslavia that the U.S.S.R. recognized the present situation in the Balkans and had no propaganda designs there.

Diplomats and newspapers in Yugoslavia speculated on the possibility of a Russian switch to the Allied line of action—perhaps to check any German and Italian plans for domination of the Balkans. In any event, they said, it is not yet clear whether Russia is making a complete turnabout or only a detour.

Tass has denied that the Yugoslav-Russian trade talks would be followed by political conversations.

NEW WESTMINSTER CURBS 'SLINK' VEAL

NEW WESTMINSTER—Health authorities of the Lower Mainland are clamping down on the alleged "slink" veal which is condemned for human consumption by the Dominion and provincial regulations as well as local health by-laws.

Several hundred carcasses of "slinks," some from only a few-day-old calves, are killed in the Fraser Valley and shipped into Vancouver and district markets every week, according to local health authorities.

There are large profits to be made in this "bootlegged" veal, according to authorities. The small calves weighing less than the 65-pound legal weight for human consumption, are being picked up by buyers for 75 cents to $1.00.

The hide alone can be sold for the purchase price and the sale of calves' liver and meat is reported to be clear profit.

The reason the governments have banned the sale of this class of veal is that it is not properly matured meat, being blood fed. Calves which are classed as meat fit for public sale are generally four to five weeks old, have been milk fed and weigh over 65 pounds. These calves sell for around $6 to $7.

A new meat inspection by-law, which gives the authorities wider powers to curb this illegal trade, is now being prepared and will be enforced shortly in New Westminster.

NATIONAL PARKS PROVE WAR ASSET

REGINA (CP)—Canadians have regarded their 19 national parks as tourist assets, but now with war, strange as it may sound, Canada's parks are war assets, said Robert J. C. Stead, superintendent of publicity of the National Parks Bureau of Ottawa, in an interview here.

The Canadian novelist claimed Canada's national parks would be a lure to American tourists this year more than ever. These tourists will bring United States funds to spend, funds which will provide precious foreign exchange for Canada in her war effort, he said.

Mr. Stead urged Canadians stress that their country, while close to and a good neighbor of the United States, was a different land. He believed it was unwise that Canadians endeavor to emphasize the similarity of Canada and the United States. Tourists want to see something different and by stressing the individuality of Canada, a greater lure is built up for American tourists.

"Every one of Canada's parks is popular with tourists," said Mr. Stead. And adding to their popularity, to their greater usefulness, especially in the west, is the new 189-mile gravelled highway that will connect Banff and Lake Louise in the Banff National Park to Jasper to the north in Jasper National Park.

ENOUGH TAXES, SIMON REPLIES

LONDON (CP)—Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, replying to criticism that his budget did not raise taxes high enough, said "foreigners must think this is a very curious country."

He invited those who had been urging him to raise another £1,000,000,000 ($4,500,000,000) in taxes to show how to do it.

In 12 months, the Chancellor said, he had added £330,000,000 in new taxes, which was as much as he thought was possible under the circumstances.

Hugh Dalton, Labor, attacked the budget and the government's war effort. Clement Davies, National Liberal, joined Mr. Dalton in his attack on the war effort, criticizing such attitudes as "time is on our side" and "we have always muddled through."

"Are we reckoning the cost of this muddle in money and material and in the terrible loss it might mean to young lives?" he asked.

Rescued Hardy Men And Took Prisoners

LONDON (CP)—The British destroyer Ivanhoe rescued survivors of the destroyer Hardy in the course of the British fleet's second successful raid on Narvik, according to the detailed report on the second raid released yesterday by the Admiralty.

"Later that night (April 13) the Ivanhoe rescued the survivors of the Hardy at Ballanger," the report said. "The Ivanhoe landed a platoon of 24 armed men. These took over control of the Ballanger hospital and school in which the wounded of the Hardy had been accommodated. During the night, after survivors of the Hardy had been taken off to the Ivanhoe, 120 Germans entered the town and promptly surrendered to the 24 men landed from the Ivanhoe."

"Norwegian authorities were anxious that these Germans should be kept in custody, and when the armed landing party of the Ivanhoe was re-embarked the Ivanhoe provided the Norwegians—mostly miners—with rifles and ammunition to guard the large body of German prisoners."

Blackmore to Lead New Democracy Group

EDMONTON (CP)—John H. Blackmore of Lethbridge will lead the New Democracy group in the House of Commons, it was decided at a caucus here.

In the last Parliament he was leader of the Social Credit group, whose members changed their name to New Democracy for the March 26 Dominion election.

Questions on reports that the alliance between the Social Credit and New Democracy forces may be abandoned, a press committee spokesman stated that "New Democracy and Social Credit are only names." He added that "we are continuing as New Democracy. We claim no distinction" between the two.

More Millionaires In Great Britain

LONDON (CP)—The report of the commissioners of inland revenue for the 1937-38 fiscal year discloses that Britain had 1,024 sterling millionaires—persons with £1,000,000, the then equivalent of about $4,500,000. That was an increase of 107 millionaires in a year.

ALLIED PLANES USE NEW NORWAY BASE

BERLIN (CPHavas)—Admission of the existence of an Allied air base in Norway, between Andalsnes and Dombas, was contained in today's communique from the German high command.

Dombas is on the railway about 60 miles southeast of Andalsnes, in the direction of Lillehammer. Andalsnes is one of the British landing points on the Atlantic coast.

The communique said: "British naval forces attacked the port of Narvik on April 25. At Trondheim reinforcements of troops and material arrived."

"In the Bergen region German troops are busy cleaning Norwegian troops out of the environs of Voss. Rare attempts at resistance were defeated."

"German troops advancing north and northwest from Oslo in several strong columns occupied new territories on April 25 with air force aid."

"Detachments of fighter planes dropped bombs on troops assembled or on the march, on communication lines, and on transports."

"On an air field between Dombas and Andalsnes 11 enemy planes were destroyed."

"Off the west coast of Norway a number of British ships were attacked by bombs. One minesweeper and one transport ship ran aground after being hit by bombs."

"Great clouds of smoke were seen on one torpedo boat and it was forced to stop. One tanker was hit by a bomb and, after turning on its side, was abandoned by its crew. The boilers of another vessel exploded."

"As a result of a British air attack on an airdrome near

Ways 2 Mistakes Led Up to War

EDMONTON (CP)—Two mistakes in Franco-British policy made the war possible, Comte Serge Fleury of Paris, ambassador at large of the French Foreign Office, told a joint luncheon of the Canadian Club and a service club here.

The first mistake was the separate British and French points of view and policy after the first Great War had ended, and the other was disarmament below the level of security, Comte Fleury said.

These mistakes have been remedied and must never be repeated, he declared, adding "we will not make those mistakes again."

20 Men Killed On British Warships

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty has disclosed that 20 men were killed or died of wounds and 20 more were wounded while on duty with the battleship Rodney and the destroyers Hotspur and Eclipse in recent actions off Norway.

Sixteen were killed and 11 wounded on the Hotspur in the first attempt to force an entrance into the harbor of Narvik, the ore port in northern Norway, on April 10; seven were wounded on the Rodney, which received a direct hit from a bomb, and four were killed and two wounded on the Eclipse as a result of what the Admiralty communique termed "a near miss" during an enemy bombing attack.

157 Lost With Hunter

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty today listed eight officers, 147 ratings and two members of the Navy, Army and Air Force Institute as casualties of the destroyer Hunter, sunk at Narvik on April 10.

"There is a faint possibility that a very small number of these officers and ratings may be prisoners of war, but there is no confirmation of this as yet," it was stated. The name of Lieutenant Commander L. de Villiers, in command of the ship, headed the list.

Not dreaming of a scientific era of discovery to come, Geneva's citizens in the 16th century decreed: "For once and forever, in no branch of learning shall any one stray from the philosophy of Aristotle."

French Put to Rout Nazi Surprise Party

PARIS (CP-Havas)—A German detachment which yesterday sought to lay an ambush for French soldiers on fatigue duty in the Vosges region was put to flight when it was surprised by a group of volunteer advance-fighting men, a military spokesman reported today.

Aside from this incident and some artillery action near the Saar River, the western front remained calm.

A French military spokesman formally denied the German propaganda allegation that two French planes had been shot down by German anti-aircraft fire.

NAZI REPORT

BERLIN (AP)—The German high command's communique today said:

"On the western front there was nothing in particular to report. A German reconnaissance plane was forced to land in Belgian territory. The crew is safe."

"During the night a number of enemy airplanes penetrated Heligoland Bight. A British plane was shot down near the island of Sylt and disappeared in the sea."

R.A.F. Sets Fire To Nazis' Oslo Oil

LONDON (CP)—An air ministry communique today said:

"Vigorous offensive action by large numbers of Royal Air Force aircraft against enemy bases in Norway and Denmark continued throughout yesterday—Thursday—and last night."

"Among other objectives, oil tanks at Vallo on Oslo Fjord were attacked and a large fire was seen. A large transport was also attacked in this fjord."

ITALIAN POSITION STILL UNCERTAIN

ROME (AP)—The possibility of Italy's entrance into the war was discussed today in the Chamber of Fasces and Guilds by one of Premier Mussolini's lieutenants with Il Duce himself listening attentively.

Guido Buffarini-Guidi, under-secretary of the interior, told the chamber that "nobody in the dramatic hour through which Europe-in-arms is passing can guarantee whether or how long the few bases of peace still existing can remain uncontaminated."

Mussolini left the chamber immediately after Buffarini-Guidi had finished. Il Duce, as interior minister, is the speaker's immediate superior.

Foreign circles are awaiting tomorrow's scheduled speech by Count Dino Grandi, president of the chamber, for an indication of whether a campaign is underway to persuade the Italians of the inevitability of war.

"Fascist Italy knows what it wants," Buffarini-Guidi said. "In addition to material interests it must defend, political problems it must solve and legitimate aspirations it must satisfy. Italy has the role of a great nation to uphold, civil and military powers to assert and imperial prestige to consolidate."

"Comrade, it said that peace must pass through Rome, and that is not saying all. It must be added that every decisive event for the future of Europe and the world must pass through Rome."

Horse Race Wire Indictments in U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—A federal grand jury investigating use of wire and radio services in dissemination of horse racing information returned three indictments today charging the Western Union Telegraph Company and 18 individuals with conspiracy to violate United States federal laws.

One indictment charges the Western Union Company and 11 others engaged in the dissemination of race news over interstate wires and operated a lottery. The second charges four Chicagoans with violation of the Radio Communications Act, alleging they used radio facilities for distributing race news. The third indictment charges three other persons with violating the lottery laws.

Allies Hold Best Hand

BRITAIN ADMITS SHE "LOST THE first trick" in the Norwegian land campaign. She could have won it if she had adopted the German plan. But she is not a burglar. Hitler's minions embarked on a treacherous invasion into which elaborate preparations had entered long in advance of the prearranged date for the strike. Germany made sure of important air bases—five or six of them—and these gave her the immediate aerial superiority of which she is naturally "taking full advantage." So the military experts in London say: "We knew we would have a difficult time and certain of our forces probably are having their troubles; but don't think for a moment this is going to have a detrimental effect on the Allied effort in Norway."

The marvel of it, of course, is that the Allied counterstroke against the much more fortunately-placed invaders has been so successful as it undoubtedly has. It would be foolish to forget that while the land campaign is undergoing a species of sparring for position, the first week in this new theatre of war witnessed the destruction of a large part of the German fleet, the sinking of numerous transports and the drowning of thousands of Nazi soldiers, not forgetting a significantly quiet interlude in Germany's campaign against Allied merchant shipping. And we have received so far only sketchy accounts of other details of the heavy price the enemy has paid, and will continue to pay, for this latest demonstration of his inability to profit by history's lessons in Teuton brutality and duplicity. Also to be borne in mind is the fact that the Allied High Command is able to transport to Norway men and materials by the shipload compared with Germany's reinforcements by airplane. Add this important advantage to the announcement that British and French air-dromes already are in the making at strategic points in Norway—together with reports of the arrival of new aerial equipment—and the losing of "the first trick" is shorn of some of its depressing effects.

As we have said before, the burglar broke the window at night, stole the necklace and decamped, and then employed to the fullest advantage the useful start he had established over the police. But the point that must be worrying Hitler and his aides in Berlin, despite temporary success, is that the forces of law and order are in full cry and determined to run their quarry to earth—even if he should extend his field of operations to include another peaceful and neutral country. Breaking into Sweden conceivably will complicate the chase; but the complication will not be all on one side. Sweden has had warning; she has her own police force and will not have to contend with the element of surprise that threw her neighbor's law-abiding people into the most devastating confusion. Come what may, moreover, the burglarious murderer will be caught, even though it may take a long time to effect the capture. Hence, to dispense with the metaphor, Hitler's invasion of Norway will cost him dearly. There was a retreat from Mons; but many Germans still remember the Battle of the Marne and its contribution to Wilhelm Hohenzollern's final defeat.

Reassuring

THERE WOULD BE A NATIONAL welling up of pride to new heights if Canadians en masse could see at their duties the keen and efficient officers and men who are charged with the defence of Canada on this coast. Such public inspection being impossible, Ottawa has done the next best thing in bringing to Victoria the party of news, camera, screen and radio men who are spending half a week in "doing" the forts, the naval establishments and the shipbuilding yards in this area. Through the observations and recordings these men are making, information will be passed on to the people of Canada as to the preparations taken for their protection.

The war may not be so near to this coast of Canada as it is to the Atlantic coast, but none knows when it may break out in the Pacific. If it does it probably will with the same suddenness that has characterized the extension of operations in Europe. To Canadians it will be reassuring to know that the forces here are ready. Reports the last few days of an unidentified power undertaking military works on the Aleutian Islands have brought home to Washington the urgency of adequate defence in the Pacific, with the result that development of air and other bases are to be speeded in Alaska. Here, thanks to foresight at Ottawa, bank upon bank of heavy guns over a wide area are in place and manned to command the entrance from the Pacific to Canadian as well as Puget Sound centres. The expansion and efficiency of the naval establishment at Esquimalt under Commodore Brodeur have amazed this week's visitors, many of whom, like the public they represent, have had little realization of the earnestness of Canadian naval effort. The navy is known as the silent service. Equally of a silent service are the coast defence units under Lieut.-Col. Vincent McKenna, who, hidden from the public eye, carry out arduous duties, trained to the last degree of precision and ready for any emergency.

Major Weyling of the army and Commander Brock of the navy, both here from Ottawa in charge of the visitors, are doing constructive and needed work in furthering national confidence and pride in our naval and military organizations by taking steps to let the public know something of the men in these services, their work and equipment.

The Familiar Technique

GERMANY'S CONTROLLED PRESS IS charging British aircraft with opening "aerial warfare on undefended and militarily unimportant localities." A seaside resort on the Island of Sylt and the town of Heide in Schleswig-Holstein are cited as points on which bombs were dropped.

There is nothing new in this type of Nazi technique. Nor is it certain that it will be followed by the usual sequel. But it resembles the verbal pictures of "atrocities" against Germans in Austria, in Czechoslovakia and in Poland to which the Nazi press devoted a good deal of space before the date stipulated for the absorption of these territorial and political prizes.

If this peculiarly Hitlerian technique is intended to presage indiscriminate bombing of British and French territory, however, the oligarchy at Berlin will have to make up its mind to the application of similar treatment to Germany. But we doubt very much whether even the most fanatical Nazi terrorist is ready to present to the German people such visible samples of what war from the air looks like at home. One of the first objectives of Allied airmen conceivably would be that section of Westphalia in which are situated the Reich's most important heavy industries. In its centre, at Essen, is the home of the Krupp's—less than half an hour from bases near the Luxembourg border. Duesseldorf, Elberfeld, Barmen, Muenchen-Gladbach, Duisburg, Dortmund and the important railway junction at Cologne, would make easy targets for Allied fliers.

Hitler will possibly think long and seriously before he embarks on his long-advertised "drive" from the skies. For when bombs begin to drop on British and French open towns the waters of the Wupper, the Ruhr and the Rhine will reflect the flames which will burst from the great industrial establishments that produce most of Germany's war materials.

Success After Many Years

IN FUTURE IT WILL NOT BE SAID THAT the province of Quebec is the only part of the British Commonwealth of Nations in which white women cannot exercise the franchise in elections of members to their own Legislature. Premier Adolphe Godbout, living up to the promise he made during the provincial campaign last October, lost no time in introducing the measure to change the electoral law. But not before several speakers in the Lower House and in the 24-member Legislative Council chamber had attacked the proposal as the government leader able to present the bill to Lieutenant-Governor Sir Eugene Fiset for signature.

On several occasions private members of the Quebec House have unsuccessfully presented bills to give the women the vote in provincial matters. As the law stood before the change now sanctioned, the gentler sex in the Ancient Province could vote for candidates for the House of Commons but not for aspirants to seats in the Quebec Legislature. Leading feminists, of course, have writhed under the operation of such a glaring anomaly in electoral procedure. The final curtain was rung down, however, when the Legislative Council, following the example of the elected House, approved the Premier's bill—after a three-hour debate—with a vote of 13 to 5. The rest of Canada will congratulate the women of Quebec on their stubbornly fought-for victory—and the government's leader for staunchly advancing Liberal principles.

Said Hitler in September, 1938: "Our immediate neighbors have our assurance of the integrity of their territory. This is our solemn wish." The Fuehrer is never more dangerous than when crossing his heart.

A Good Scheme Inaugurated

From Ottawa Citizen

Every relief family in Ottawa which has an able-bodied man among its members must cultivate a garden this summer. The Board of Control has ruled under regulations suggested by the Toronto government. Families affected ought to welcome this arrangement, and none that is penalized for failing to take advantage of it will receive any sympathy.

There will be many a family not on relief which would like to share in this garden scheme. Under it, the city will parcel out plots of a tenth of an acre each, plough the soil, provide tools, seeds, plants and fertilizer, and even supervision. The estimated cost of the gardens is $5,522, of which sum the city will pay 20 per cent and the province 80 per cent, the same ratio as in relief costs. A twofold purpose is served by this allotment movement. One is to make available to relief families which have often lacked in essential food elements a more plentiful supply of fresh garden produce. All such produce will go to the families involved, so that there will be very little competition with professional gardeners. The other purpose served is the provision of healthful outdoor activity at a time when idleness and introspection are liable to have their harmful effect on unemployed persons.

The scheme is an excellent one and undoubtedly will be taken full advantage of by the people eligible. Punishment for failure to work a garden is the stoppage of relief.

SOUTH OF THE BORDER

(This is the fourteenth in a series of articles by Mr. Hutchison on the developing pre-election situation in Washington.)

THIS IS ELECTION YEAR south of the border. Already the deep heaving of it is visible throughout the nation, but little noted by neighbors, who have their own troubles. Something more than the routine election of every fourth year—the choice of a government which must see the country through the most dangerous period since the Civil War; a government which will make the policy of the United States toward the world when the world is being rebuilt at the conclusion of this war. A change in government down there, the end of the Roosevelt regime and the New Deal philosophy would be scarcely less important to us in Canada than to the Americans themselves.

Roosevelt we know. He is friendly to our ideas in general, an internationalist, an old League of Nations man, a pro-Britisher and lately a tariff reformer. But what of the alternative? What of the Republican Party?

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY remains the party of high tariffs. It gave us the Fordney-McCumber tariff after the last war, which started the mad program of autarchy throughout the world. It gave us the Smoot-Hawley Tariff which completed this process so far as the United States was concerned. Both tariffs were disastrous to Canada.

The first breach in this wall came only with the Hull reciprocal trade program. Undoubtedly Mr. Roosevelt intended to move much further in this direction in the hope of easing the economic tensions that made for war, but he was too late. Still the Democratic Party stands by the Hull policy, insists on Congress maintaining it, and hopes to extend it when the war is over.

If you care to wade through the speeches of the two leading Republican presidential candidates, Senators Vandenberg and Taft, you will see that they are against the Hull policy. Senator Vandenberg has a plan of his own for a new tariff board but he has no intention of lowering the tariff. Instead, he would "eliminate all competitive agricultural imports, thus making the tariff as effective as possible for agriculture... ultimately, it would make the farming system self-contained and self-sustaining." And he would take trade-treaty making out of the hands of the government, where it is at present, within certain restrictions, and return it to Congress, where always in the past the pressure of local groups has ended in a huge increase in duties all round. No hope for lower tariffs from Senator Vandenberg.

Senator Taft has lately attacked the "free trade principles" of Mr. Hull and declared: "The Republican Party believes in imposing and retaining a tariff equal to the difference in cost of production abroad... and the cost of production in this country, where we enjoy an American standard of living." No hope of lower tariffs here.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY recently issued a so-called program, drafted by some of its leading brains, for submission to the Republican Convention this year. It pays lip service to the ideal of world trade, but is hardboiled in its belief that, under conditions as they are, the Americans must first protect their own industries. It says: "We must frankly face the problem of organizing our own economic life on the basis of a large measure of self-sufficiency if the present world trend toward self-sufficiency continues. We must fully protect our national living standards, the wages of our workers, the income of our farmers."

The program also calls for the scrapping of the Hull trade principle and the return of trade treaty making to Congress.

IN OTHER WORDS, the Republican Party blames the world for the trend to self-sufficiency and sees no hope of the United States doing anything about it. No nation contributed so much to the progress of self-sufficiency as the United States under Republican rule. No nation so well as the United States can lead the world back out of this hopeless rut. If the Republican Party is going to wait for the world instead of trying to lead it, like Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull, there is no hope for world trade, and especially for Canadian trade, in the Republican Party; no hope for any real contribution by the United States to a sound economic peace settlement.

FRANCE LOOKING TO SPAIN—FEARS DAGGER IN BACK

French officers commanding troops along the Pyrenees have a look across the Spanish border, symbolizing their nation's watchful eye on Spain.

A FIGHTER with a broken leg, two black eyes, and half his hair pulled out doesn't often crawl back into the ring with a fresh crew of huskies to wind up the evening's entertainment in a free-for-all.

But Spain remains a big country, still in Europe, still blanketing the western end of the Mediterranean.

Spain is lifting her tired head, and France and Britain are not neglecting to watch.

The Allies counted too strongly on the Nazi-Communist pact to swing Spain out of Germany's orbit. They forgot that every instrument of propaganda—press and radio in particular—was controlled by the most pro-German, anti-French, anti-British element in Spain, the Falangists.

Against this group is only the powerless and uninspired Rightist opposition, which wants to develop Spain internally before taking another flier into European politics.

While Britain and France slept at the switch last fall and winter, Dr. Goebbels moved into Spain to counteract the public effect of the Nazi-Soviet pact. He had a powerful weapon in 600,000,000 pesos owed Germany for arms.

Now the Allies are beginning an effort to counteract Dr. Goebbels' propaganda. They will stress possible consequences to Spain of the Reich-Soviet agreement, Communist danger to Catholic Spain, especially on moral and economic grounds, and exaltation of Catholic conceptions in France.

The Allied propagandists hold some cards. First, the radio. It's easy to broadcast over the Pyrenees into the heart of Spain. Second, newspapers. Most of them are controlled by the Falangists, who can't be reached directly.

But what is a newspaper printed on? Newsprint—made from Scandinavian woodpulp in the case of Spanish papers. If Germany controls Norway the Spanish publishers will have a difficult time at best getting newsprint via Germany, because of the blockade.

But if France and Britain control Norway—then the Spaniards can get the paper easily... if they will go along with France and Britain.

While Germany splurges a reported 5,000,000 francs a month in pile-driving propaganda in Spain, the Allies could chisel in on the ground floor with a mere 330,000 francs a month for newsprint—if they controlled Norway.

NOT WARSHIPS BUT FRIENDSHIPS

A FEW DAYS AGO there took place two meetings. One was in Norway, between the advance guard of the fighting forces of the democratic allies on the one hand and the Nazi legions of aggression on the other. Those who clashed in this meeting rode in great steel chariots, which fed on slimy fuel drawn from the bowels of the earth. These chariots spewed forth a stream of invisible, death-dealing missiles. Each man inside was armed by instruments of destruction so deadly that under certain circumstances he might do more damage in one hour than a whole army could have done in the days of Julius Caesar or William the Conqueror.

The other meeting took place thousands of miles away. There were no uniformed troops, no salutes, no tinsel-trappings, no fire-cracker ceremonial to create the delusions of grandeur which so often help to make men do such insane things. Two old friends were meeting again to talk things over. Neither was any supeman. One was a bald bachelor, well on in years. The other was a grandfather, who had had more than his share of the family and personal bumps in life, but came up smiling. This meeting took place in Warm Springs, Georgia, between Franklin Roosevelt and Mackenzie King.

BOTH THE president of the United States and the Prime Minister of Canada inferred that there was no special significance to the meeting in Georgia. Neither had anything to say to the press. Yet for all that, I am one who hazards the wild guess that what took place at Warm Springs may yet prove more important than what took place on the same day at the same time between the fighting forces in Norway.

The ordeal of our generation, as I see it, is dual in nature. With one hand we must restrain and hold in check the forces of aggression. If the Hitlers are allowed to work their will on the world all the things which our forefathers fought for, and frequently died for, will be lost. There will be no freedom of religion. All will have to worship at the feet of some idiot, whose heels are ruthless and heavy; whose head is light. There will be no freedom of thought, let alone freedom of action. Man will become the slave of the state, and the state the cat's paw of whatever sinister clique is able to control it. Against such a possibility we must fight, if necessary, with every man and woman on the physical fighting line of defence.

BUT THE OTHER part of our job is with ourselves. What good will it do us to beat Hitler as we beat the Kaiser if 20 years after this war is over we have to go out and fight another dictator who may be as much worse than Hitler as Hitler is worse than the Kaiser?

We must win the peace as well as the war. You cannot win the peace with warships. You may win the peace with friendships if the friends act as sensible human beings in keeping with the necessities of these times.

Less than a year ago Clarence Streit wrote in his book, since famous, "Union Now": "The democracies, to win, need only scrap this balance of power and neutrality nonsense and directly seek peace in the unbalance of power that union alone can quickly and securely give them."

The democracies can secure world control overnight without doing violence to anyone. They need merely change their minds, decide to stand together as a union instead of apart.

Unless the genuine democratic world gets together in the near future the long-range outlook is bleak indeed. Three powers—the U.S., Britain and France—are the essential elements in this regard.

There is no country in all the world more important than Canada in this particular connection. There are no persons more important than Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. King.

Naval Feat in Arctic

Narvik Battle Story
Told By Admiralty

LONDON (CP) — Details of the British navy's victory in the second battle of Narvik, April 13, were known to the public today following issuance by the Admiralty of a full account of the fight in which seven enemy destroyers were destroyed and shore batteries silenced at the cost of damage only to three British destroyers.

Excerpts from the official description follow:

The weather was misty with low clouds and drizzle when at noon on Saturday, April 13, a British naval force steamed up West Fjord toward Ofot Fjord and Narvik. The force was led by H.M.S. Icarus and consisted of the destroyers Icarus, Hero, Foxhound, Kimberley and Dorchester, and the Tribal class destroyers Bedouin, Punjabi, Eskimo and Cossack and the battleship Warspite. It was under the command of Vice-Admiral William Whitworth, whose flag flew on the Warspite (30,000-ton vessel carrying eight 15-inch guns and eight six-inch guns).

To take so large a ship through the long, narrow approach to Narvik was in itself a feat of navigation.

First contact between our naval forces and the enemy took place at 12.26 p.m. A German destroyer appeared out of the mist on the south side of the fjord. She was sighted almost simultaneously by H.M.S. Icarus and H.M.S. Bedouin. These two ships and H.M.S. Punjabi and H.M.S. Cossack opened fire, but the enemy turned about and disappeared into the mist.

At 12.45 a German destroyer loomed up on the starboard side of our forces. She was at once engaged by our destroyer, whose fire she returned. Five minutes later another destroyer of the same class came in sight and joined in the action. Our destroyers thus had two targets to engage. A few minutes later the Warspite opened fire.

WARNED OF AMBUSH

Some minutes before the British force came abreast of Ballanger Bay on the south side of Ofot Fjord, a warning was received from the Warspite's aircraft that an enemy destroyer was lurking in the bay. This destroyer was sighted by the Icarus at 1.07 p.m. The German ship at once opened fire, and this was immediately returned by the Icarus. The destroyers Bedouin, Punjabi and Eskimo also engaged and finally disposed of this enemy destroyer.

More destroyers appeared until there were six enemy ships zig-zagging about ahead of the British.

Having dealt faithfully with the enemy destroyer in Ballanger Bay, the Icarus, Bedouin, Punjabi and Eskimo shifted their fire to these enemy destroyers. A veritable "dogfight" ensued.

At 1.30 p.m. aircraft of the fleet arm attacked the harbor works of Narvik. The Warspite was then approaching the position from which she was to bombard coastal fortifications. By this time other British destroyers which had been to the northward were also in action with enemy destroyers at a range of about three miles. A series of running fights developed, with the enemy fighting in retreat.

THREE ENEMIES SUNK

Three of the enemy had been destroyed—one was a blazing wreck in Ballanger Bay, another a drifting derelict north of Narvik, abandoned by her crew, who were swimming for shore, and the third had beached herself in Harjungen Fjord to the north-east. This German destroyer had enormous column of black smoke coming from her, and two large explosions followed at short intervals. The remaining German destroyers had sought refuge up Rombaks Fjord.

Neither the Germans' gunfire nor their torpedoes had any effect on the British ships. While the destroyer action was in progress, H.M.S. Warspite was bombarding shore batteries in the vicinity of Narvik Harbor. In this H.M.S. Warspite was assisted by H.M.S. Cossack. H.M.S. Cossack went close in to Narvik harbor and engaged shore batteries fiercely at a range of less than half a mile. H.M.S. Cossack's gunfire silenced an enemy howitzer. In this engagement with the shore batteries H.M.S. Cossack was supported by H.M.S. Punjabi and H.M.S. Foxhound.

CHASE RUNAWAYS

Meanwhile H.M.S. Eskimo, Foxhound, Hero, Bedouin and Icarus chased the enemy destroyers which had retired up narrow Rombaks Fjord.

As soon as the Eskimo passed through a narrow neck halfway up Rombaks Fjord, she came under fire. A German destroyer which had been badly damaged and had been beached, opened fire as the Eskimo came into view. The Hero reached the narrows to support the Eskimo, but could go no farther, as there was not sufficient room to manoeuvre. It was left to the Eskimo to silence the enemy.

This was soon accomplished, but the Eskimo received some damage. When other British destroyers came through the narrows they saw this enemy ablaze from stem to stern. The Hero then took the lead, and supported by the Kimberley, advanced around a bend in the fjord to discover what lay beyond.

Right up against the ice at the head of Rombaks Fjord lay three German destroyers abandoned.

One, the Hans Ludeman, lay almost beam on and appeared undamaged, but there was no sign of life aboard, only the bows of the second showed above the water, and the third was on fire aft, but seemed otherwise all right. The Ludeman was searched and blown up.

The other vessel, listed and sank. It had been scuttled.

Canada May Send Polish Legion

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dr. Zygmunt Niekowski, member of the Polish government in exile in France, said here that formation of a Polish legion in Canada is being considered by the British, French and Canadian governments in conjunction with Polish representatives.

Dr. Nowakowski is assistant to General Josef Haller, head of the Polish mission now visiting Canada. He told interviewers Gen. Haller would discuss with the Canadian government the raising of a legion.

He said that in Poland now it was not uncommon for the German officers to board a street car, one at each end, and rob the passengers of their money and watches.

U.B.C. Chancellor Honored

VANCOUVER (CP)—Medical men of the United States and Canada joined with graduates of McGill University here in paying tribute to Dr. Robert E. McKechnie, Chancellor of the University of British Columbia, on the 50th anniversary of his graduation from the eastern Canada university.

Dr. McKechnie, one of the province's pioneer physicians, also celebrated his 79th birthday at the banquet last night, sponsored jointly by the Vancouver and District Branch of the McGill Graduates' Society of Vancouver and the British Columbia Medical Association.

Veteran Surgeon

While the veteran physician and surgeon spent the morning of his birthday at his professional work, performing an operation, the evening brought one of the most unusual birthday events seen here. Graduates and old medical friends had come from Seattle and Portland and Dr. F. M. Auld, president of the British Columbia Medical Association, had come from Nelson and Lieut. Col. A. I. Jones from Esquimalt.

Dr. McKechnie has been in British Columbia since 1891, and in Vancouver since 1903.

Graduated from McGill in 1890, he spent more than a year as interne in Montreal General Hospital, and then came to Wellington, Vancouver Island, in 1891 as a surgeon. In 1893 he moved to Nanaimo in the same capacity. In 1902 he went to Vienna for post graduate work. On his return he took up practice as a surgeon in Vancouver, becoming consulting surgeon to both the Vancouver General Hospital and St. Paul's Hospital. He was first president of the B.C. Medical Association.

In 1898 he was elected to the Legislature from Nanaimo, and for two years was president of the executive council in the Selkirk cabinet.

He was appointed a member of the senate of the University of British Columbia in 1912 and became a governor in 1913. He has been chancellor of the university continuously since 1918. McGill conferred an honorary LL.D. in 1921 and the U.B.C. in 1925.

Buildings Erected
For Air Training

OTTAWA (CP)—Work is under way on buildings for a number of schools in the British Commonwealth air training plan, the Department of National Defence states.

Buildings for elementary flying training schools at Malton, Ont.; London, Fort William, Windsor, Que.; Windsor, Ont., and Prince Albert, Sask., have been started. Some of these schools will be required on June 1 for the first class of pilots passed out of the initial training school, which will open at Toronto May 1.

Each of these schools will be provided with a hangar, 160 by 112 feet in size, a technical and quartermaster's stores, a ground instructional building, messes and quarters for officers, non-commissioned officers and other ranks, a hospital, a garage and a 25-yard firing range with a stop butt.

The men's mess building will include rooms for recreation.

Daylight Time
To Start Sunday

TORONTO (CP)—Daylight saving time—welcomed by many but a headache for others—will roll around again this week-end for thousands of Canadians. With it come the time-worn arguments.

Daylight saving addicts say that extra hour of light for recreation and other activities in the evening more than balances all the attendant difficulties caused by some municipalities pushing their clocks ahead an hour while others remain on standard time.

What some of the opponents say isn't fit to print, but their chief printable arguments are these: That people using trains, buses, airplanes go haywire trying to figure out revised schedules; that children just won't be put to bed while it's still light and thus lose precious sleep; that the radio dial-twisters can't find their favorite programs.

Clocks were pushed ahead in Great Britain February 25 so workers might get home in an extra hour of daylight before the blackout descends.

Western Canada beat the gun when Regina went on fast time April 14—the first city in the Dominion to make the change, but the only one in all the west that intends to do so.

Most of the fast-time communities in Ontario and Quebec, including Toronto and Montreal, will swing to daylight time this Sunday, the change coinciding with the change-over at New York City.

Standard returns September 29 for these communities which include Ottawa, Guelph, Brockville, Peterborough, St. Catharines, Cornwall, Belleville and Welland in Ontario, and Hull, Sherbrooke and Three Rivers in Quebec. Hamilton will go on daylight Sunday, but will change back two weeks earlier.

In the Maritimes, Halifax will make the change from May 5 to September 29; Moncton, May 19; September 21; Saint John, May 25-September 28.

Sudbury, Ont., will be the last city in the Dominion to make the change, adopting fast time the first Sunday in June.

Why some automobile parts never squeak is explained by photographing colors reflected from an oil film; when a minutely thin solid film is formed on the surface of the metal there is no squeak, and the photographic studies may aid in finding oils best suited for lubrication where extreme pressures exist.

Bimelech Wins
In Easy Style

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Bimelech, the shortest Kentucky Derby winter book favorite in history, yesterday clinched his spot as the horse to beat in the Churchill Downs classic by easily defeating two other Derby candidates—Roman and Bashful Duck.

Colonel E. R. Bradley's never-beaten son of Black Toney-La Troienne, looking and running like the great champion he is, captured the $5,000 added Blue Grass stakes before a record-crowd of nearly 13,000 in the feature race of the closing card at Keeneland race course.

Watching from his automobile, Colonel Bradley saw "Big Bim" collar Joseph E. Widener's highly-regarded Roman in the back stretch and gradually widen the margin to finish in an easy gallop 2 1/4 lengths in front, with Bashful Duck, Bimelech's stablemate, three lengths back of the Widener horse in the three-horse field.

Time for the mile and eighth-one-eighth short of the Derby route—was 1.51. The Bradley entry paid $2.20 on a $2 win ticket. Only win bets were accepted.

Letters to the Editor

COMFORT FOR THE CHURCH

To the Editor:—As just a humble layman, I should like to offer a word of comfort to the church. In this trying hour that confronts mankind, when men's hearts begin to fail for fear of the portending changes, the church cannot bring peace.

The church does not belong to the Babylonian system, but this system of the Gentiles has crept into the church. This is the cause of the disturbances within the realm of Christendom.

STANLEY WESTERN,

CURING SICK BABIES

To the Editor:—In an editorial article you say: "Too many preventable deaths in Canada; 70,000 babies under one year old died from 1931 to 1935."

I beg to state that most of these babies die from summer complaint, a sort of diarrhoea, purging or looseness of the bowels. The remedy for this is spiced syrup of rhubarb, a sure cure. I mentioned this remedy in the daily press some years ago. Mr. Forest (a druggist who used to have his store where Mr. T. Hill is now) asked me why he was selling so much spiced syrup of rhubarb, and I told him I put it in the paper.

I remember several cases in the Old Country where babies were given up as impossible to cure. I found out about this and told one man what to get for his baby. This child was given up by several doctors. Spiced syrup of rhubarb cured the child.

I sent this information to our eastern paper some years ago. They found it work O.K. and said it was splendid.

F. C. CORRY,
1706 Lillian Road.

CEMETERY IMPROVEMENT

To the Editor:—I take this privilege of drawing the attention of those of your readers who have plots in Ross Bay cemetery to the efforts of the civic authorities to improve the appearance of the cemetery, to appeal to them to lend the city their co-operation in this most desirable work.

During the last 10 years the city has been giving the cemetery much-needed attention by extending water services, installing light drains and catch basins, cleaning, repairing and trimming roads, and carrying out other undertakings. As this is the proper season for seeding I wish to suggest that the owners of grass plots in the cemetery who contemplate taking advantage of the Ross Bay Cemetery Grass Plots Maintenance Fund by-law, 1931, make the necessary arrangements without delay with the secretary of the cemetery at the City Hall before the hot weather sets in to give proper attention to any plots that may require to be re-seeded.

Under the plan embodied in the by-law, the city assumes the entire responsibility for perpetually maintaining any cemetery grass plot in first class condition upon receipt from the plot owner of a cash payment according to the following scale, namely, single plot $75, double plot $125, 3-plot section $170, 4-plot section $210, 5-plot section $240 and 6-plot section $265.

Many citizens already have taken advantage of the by-law's provisions and I am sure are very well pleased with the careful attention their plots receive. As the city is doing all in its power to make the cemetery increasingly satisfactory and creditable to the people of Victoria, I look to those concerned who have not already acted in the matter to take advantage of the by-law and thus assist the city in its efforts and at the same time secure lasting benefit and satisfaction for themselves.

WM. H. DAVIES,
Alderman,
Committee of one on Ross Bay Cemetery, 1008 Broad Street.

"MAN AND THE MACHINE"

To the Editor:—There are far more things to agree with in the recent letter in your columns from O. Corbett than to disagree with. Specially is it a pleasure to see Mr. Corbett, who is presumably a follower of Howard Scott's "technocracy," actually digging up figures for himself from such excellent authorities as the U.S. Statistical Abstracts rather than accepting the apocalyptic utterances of Howard Scott as fact.

But Mr. Corbett has shown no decline in total employment in the United States in the last few generations of most intense mechanization. He writes that the "century of 1840-1940 has witnessed the arrival of a high energy state on the North American continent." This is quite true, and yet during the same period employment has gone up, not down.

For instance, in 1870 out of every 1,000 persons in the U.S. 324 were gainfully employed in providing goods and services consumed by the whole population. In 1930, in spite of the great development of the machine, almost exactly 400 people out of every 1,000 were employed gainfully.

ARTHRITIS TOLL

To the Editor:—Most physicians believe that infection is the sole cause of arthritis, but the tests will prove that most cases of arthritis are due to faulty diets and that they can be prevented. There are many cases of arthritis due to venereal diseases and tuberculosis. Some cases are due to allergy, and some of the worst cases are due to a disfunction of the parathyroid glands—induced by some faulty diets.

Everybody ought to know that the body is made of the food we eat and that foods have much to do for and against health. Nobody follows a strictly not-

Nanaimo Pioneers Mark Wedding Day

NANAIMO—Dr. W. F. Drysdale, city medical health officer, and Mrs. Drysdale celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Wednesday. They were married in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here, April 24, 1900.

Dr. Drysdale came to Nanaimo 46 years ago as assistant to Dr. R. E. McKechnie.

Those were horse and buggy days and he had to travel in sparsely-settled districts on poor roads in all kinds of weather.

Dr. and Mrs. Drysdale have always been associated with St. Andrew's United and Presbyterian Churches. Mrs. Drysdale sang in the church choir and has been leading soprano soloist for 47 years. She is a past secretary of Nanaimo Local Council of Women.

Practically all wild animals except common rabbits will bite a man when first handled, says a writer in Natural History Magazine.

Bridge Tea Augments Metchosin Hall Fund

An enjoyable bridge and tea party was held on Tuesday at the Metchosin Hall in aid of the hall building fund. The hostess, Mrs. H. S. Jordan, received the guests, a committee of ladies assisting at the bridge and tea hour.

The hall was attractively arranged with small tables on which were large vases of Dutch iris and tulips, grown and donated by Mr. W. L. Whitney-Griffiths. A considerable sum was raised by the sale of these choice blooms.

The hall committee gave a vote of thanks to Mrs. Jordan and her committee and to Mr. Griffiths for his generous gift of flowers.

The special speaker for the evening will be Dr. Henrietta Anderson, her subject for this occasion being "As We Can Be." The Friday evening session will close with a vesper service, led by Mrs. W. P. Freeman.

Saturday evening's session will take the form of a banquet at 6.30 o'clock, which will be held at the Y.M.C.A. The special speaker will be Miss Anne Fountain, B.A., girls' work secretary for the province of British Columbia, who will speak on "They Dared to Live."

UNITY AND PEACE
Whatever comes will not turn back. On the Red, White and Blue, the Union Jack, Long may it greet the wind and breeze. To strengthen our arm on land and sea. To soften the tone of words we speak. To check the turbulent and assist the weak. And smooth the way for the peace we seek.
The wily German will engage. To try and make another fight. Down in history for others to quote. On Mussolini's topics, some may note. Then it may end by gun and smoke.
Go on, old Britain's sons so true. The spirit of old keeps ever new. And honor all that honor you. The Red means danger, the white is Peace. The glorious Blue that wars will cease. Uphold the Empire's loyal toast. No idle dream, no bragging's boast. And pray to it from disaster. The earth is God's, our Lord and master. Who put all here His works to ordain. Until He comes to rule again.

Ellis Wants 4 Acres
Set Aside for Park

On the suggestion of Councillor William Ellis, the Oak Bay Municipal Council last night refused to grant the sale of three lots facing on Trafalgar Street, Oak Bay, to J. H. Whitmore & Co. Ltd., acting on behalf of Lieut. James Robert Genge, R.C.N.V.R., 1041 Monterey Avenue. The offer was for $750 for the lots. Mr. Genge's intention being to build a substantial home on the property.

The high point on King George Terrace that offers a splendid view for motorists over the water overlooks the property where the three lots are located. The council supported Councillor Ellis when he reiterated his stand of some years ago that this property reaching from King George Terrace to the waterfront be kept clear of buildings and preserved as a park. "We should preserve these few lots for future generations," Councillor Ellis said. Oak Bay owns 15 other lots in this area of four acres and the lands committee was authorized to investigate and report on whether the remaining lots should be set aside as a public parkland.

The council referred a letter from Straith, Pringle & Rutan, law firm, acting on behalf of the Taxi Operators' Association of Greater Victoria, to the municipal solicitor for a report. The letter pointed out to the council ways to overcome difficulties it would encounter in drafting a by-law to provide for taxicab fares and the use of taximeters.

The council accepted two offers for lots. One was from Mrs. C. E. Clark offering $255 for a lot on Heron Street, the other from S. H. Frame offering $367 for a lot on Dufferin Street.

The request of H. L. Alexander, for refund of a $120 deposit on a lot was granted when the soldier's message that the Dominion authorities refused him a housing loan because he was a soldier had been read. He said the authorities only classed him as temporarily employed.

A half dozen wagons, several plows and other horse-drawn equipment belonging to Oak Bay will be auctioned on May 1, it was announced. Herb Gardiner, who for 31 years held the reins of the horses that pulled the equipment, has now "gone modern." He now drives a municipal truck.

The municipality's relief bill for the first three months of the year totaled $440.99, compared to $795.36 for the same period last year, according to a report submitted.

Councillor Ellis, in charge of the Civilian Protection Committee offices, informed the council that they were invited to attend a rally of the protection committee to be held Tuesday night at 8 in the Chamber of Commerce. He said speakers and movies would describe the work of the committee. Invitations had also been extended to councillors and Reeves in other municipalities and the mayor and aldermen of Victoria.

HAD GAS PAINS AND UPSET STOMACH FOR YEARS NOW IS HAPPY AND WELL AGAIN

Mr. Robert Wilson of The Mount, Victoria, Tells How Mosby's Tonic Gave Him Splendid Relief and Says: "I Used to Suffer So Badly With Gassy Spells After Meals That I Hated the Sight of Food, But Now I Feel Fine and Endorse Mosby's Tonic Wholeheartedly"

MR. ROBERT WILSON of The Mount, Victoria, Who is One of HUNDREDS in This Vicinity Who Are Publicly Endorsing MOSBY'S TONIC. "It Relieved My Stomach Distress and I Feel Fine!" He Says.

Many Victoria people have stomach gas so bad they can hardly sleep nights. They swell with gas so tight they feel like they can hardly breathe, especially when they try to lie down. So some men and women sit up in a chair or walk the floor, for hours at night, in fear of this gassy feeling. And night and day, many such people keep having gaseous cramps, spells of nausea, sharp gas pains and soreness from frequent bloating. They sometimes suffer almost continually.

But now MOSBY'S TONIC is helping such men and women all over Victoria. It not only contains special herbs which help expel gas from the stomach and intestines, but it also promotes the flow of digestive juices and AIDS DIGESTION, all at the same time. This New, Scientific Formula also contains herbs which act upon sluggish kidneys and bowels, thus helping to cleanse the inner-system and bring new feelings of health in general.

This Splendid Compound is now being introduced to crowds daily here in Victoria by a Special Mosby's Tonic Representative, known as THE MOSBY TONIC MAN, at the Cunningham Drug Store (formerly Vancouver Drug Co.), Fort and Douglas Streets, and at the same time, many widely-known residents from all over this section are publicly praising it and endorsing it. For instance, just a few days ago, Mr. Robert Wilson of The Mount, public more particularly to the fact that tonight at the Royal Victoria Theatre there is to be a show by the Rotary minstrels.

Walter Chambers, president of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club, returned Saturday from a yachting trip among the islands of the Gulf. R. A. Bell, J. E. May and W. Walker were his guests.

SHIRLEY

At the card party held by the Community Association on Wednesday evening five tables were in play. Mr. and Mrs. E. Robinson were the conveners for the evening and the prizewinners were Mr. and Mrs. E. Lines, Mrs. E. Banner and Arthur E. Clark.

Dean Unlimbers

Hurls Chicago To Smart Win Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

SEABISCUIT HAS gone back to the farm. Back to Willets, California, the same place where he enjoyed domestic bliss a year ago. Back to visit his young sons and daughters. He's through racing and no more will the blasts of shrill trumpets bring him to attention and stir his blood to action.

Seabiscuit, at what is generally considered a ripe old racing age—seven years—enters retirement. Other horses, equally famous in their day, bid adieu to active service, and great were their prospects. What luck attended their new ventures in the stud?

Colin, mighty Colin, unbeaten and a whirlwind if one ever existed, had the honor of sojourning in England for a time. But not for long. They considered him something of a flop as a stud horse. To the United States he returned. Nor could he produce a great horse to take his place. In the opinion of the greatest racing authorities, "No horse is an unqualified success in the stud until he sires a better horse than himself."

Man o' War left racing after his match against Sir Barton. It was in the fall of the year and Big Red was a three-year-old. Given the finest mares the country possessed, Man o' War gained laurels to add to his racing prestige. Ever long he had two thundering sons thrilling the turf—American Flag and Crusader. Those two alone assured Man o' War's fame as a stallion.

But what of Sir Barton, the hardy little horse, much like Seabiscuit in appearance and conduct, save he could run in the mud? A horse which bore the highest burdens, weights as heavy as those the Biscuit carried. Winner of the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness, a marvel on his record. After two seasons it was a certainty Sir Barton would not do as a sire. His progeny lacked class. The Sir Barton mares and colts amounted to little or nothing. Another failure was Cudgel, an enduring, game, hard-running horse at his best.

And there was Greylag, pride of the Hildreth barn. Another failure. One tiny filly, Greylady, looked like a worthy miss, but died. Greylag tumbled from high estate. A thankless master sent him back to the races. In his old age we find him tumbling around in selling plate class, until finally a kindly turf insisted he be given a home.

Extremator, a gelding, would not be expected to receive the consideration of a stud. Well, he stood the racing wars until nine years of age. Then he was given a fond farewell to racing. And it must be said this grand lord of thoroughbreds still lives at his palatial quarters in Virginia.

Twenty Grand would probably be considered one of the four best horses in America, had he not blown up when retired. He, too, left racing early in life. He proved impotent and was sent to England in an effort to revive him. Sad to relate, he lost all speed, all quality, and today lives the life of a hermit.

Zev turned useless in the stud. Equipoise died early. Sysonby died on the race track. Discovery has missed so far.

"By Seabiscuit," what will that mean in years to come?

Youngsters in Soccer Games

Young soccer players get the spotlight on the local battlefield tomorrow afternoon. At Athletic Park three Victoria juvenile squads will tackle visiting Nanaimo youngsters in games that will decide a trio of island championships.

The program will open at 1, and will continue for five hours, one of the largest dishes of soccer entertainment ever presented to the local followers here.

The opener will see Gorge Aces take on Nanaimo's North End Rangers, with Dave McMillan as referee.

Ninety minutes later Maple Leafs of Victoria will trot onto the pitch at the enclosure to tangle with another Nanaimo North End aggregation. Terry Peers will referee.

Final attraction will see St. Louis College boys oppose Nanaimo Harewood Cubs. Ralph Alcock will referee.

MILITARY TITLE AT STAKE

Second Battalion (M.G.), Canadian Scottish Regiment, champions in island military soccer, will embark on tonight's boat to continue their battle with New Westminster Regiment (M.G.), mainland soldier champions, tomorrow for the provincial military crown.

This is a home-and-home series. In the first game, played here some weeks ago, the squads finished their game in a 2 to 2 draw and a keen struggle is predicted for tomorrow before the champions emerge. They are fighting for the silver cup presented by Major D. G. Crofton.

Managed by C. S. M. Nichols and with Sgt. H. Jackson, trainer, the local squad is as follows: Drummers McMillan and Cann, C.S.M. Stothard, Lance Corporal Robinson, Major Crofton, Lieutenant Hewlett and Privates Hurd, Bland, Anderson, Warman, Deluce, Atkins and McLellan.

ARMSTRONG MEETS JUNIOR TONIGHT

BOSTON (AP)—According to those who back their flinty opinions with hard cash, the National Boxing Association was guilty of over-emphasis when it broadcast its decision that it would not recognize tonight's Henry Armstrong-Pauli Junior bout as a welterweight championship affair if the latter won.

Few of those who wager on such events concede Junior, a 30-year-old veteran of 300 battles, the slightest chance to strip Armstrong of the last of the three world titles he has won during his sensational career within the ropes.

Although Armstrong is expected to weigh in around 141, only two pounds heavier than his Lewisohn, Me, rival, the negro champion is a 3 to 1 shot to wind up their scheduled 15-round engagement with an early knockout.

CHARLESTON, W.Va.—Lou Ambers, 140, lightweight champion, Hickmire, N.Y., outpointed Normant Quarles, 139½, Richmond, Va. (10).

Soccer Suspensions

English Action Drastic
LONDON (CP)—First-round winners in England's wartime cup soccer tournament will be decided tomorrow. Sixty-four teams clash in concluding games of the home-and-home series in which total goals decide second round qualifiers.

Scottish teams continue wartime group competitions with Rangers far ahead of the field, and probable champions in the western section. In the east, Falkirk, leader since the campaign opened last autumn, has a five-point margin over Heart of Midlothian, its nearest challenger.

The Football Association Commission investigating Everton's action in playing Joe Mercer, international halfback in a Lancashire Cup match, April 13, when he had been selected to play for England against Wales, has suspended two Everton directors and censured the secretary of the club.

Crystal Palace's 4 to 1 defeat of Tottenham Hotspurs was one of the surprises of the initial stage of the two-game cup series. The second game is scheduled for White Hart Lane, home of the Spurs.

Portsmouth, English cupholder, went under 3 to 1 to West Bromwich Albion and will fight hard on its own ground in the return encounter against the east midland group's leading eleven, Victoria, for Wolverhampton Wanderers, runners-up in the cup series a year ago, appears almost certain. The Wolves drew 1 to 1 at Wrexham a week ago.

CLEVELAND — Steve Dudas, 198, New York, outpointed Dan Merritt, 194, Cleveland (10).

IN B.C. GALA TONIGHT—Two outstanding freestyle artists of Coach Archie McKinnon's "Y" Swimming Club to be seen in action this evening at the Crystal Garden in the British Columbia championship gala, will be Hazel Smith, senior women's entry, and Bob Johnstone of the junior boys' section. Both swimmers have won honors in galas throughout the province and the Pacific Northwest. Good showings are promised against mainland stars in this evening's meet. The meet will start at 8.

Lynn Patrick Home

Back for a lot of Victoria sunshine and a good summer's rest, Lynn Patrick, member of the New York Rangers, recent winners of the world's professional hockey championship, arrived home today, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Lester Patrick.

Lynn's wife, Dorothy, and his seven weeks old son will reach the city on Wednesday. They are making the trip to the coast by train. Lynn and his mother left New York last Sunday, making the trip across the continent by car.

"Grandpop" Lester, manager of the Rangers, will remain in New York for the National Hockey League meeting on May 13, following which he will head for Victoria to spend the summer.

Murray (Muzz) Patrick, Lynn's younger brother and star defenseman of the Rangers, plans to remain in New York until September, when he will come home for a few weeks' visit. Muzz will watch at the World's Fair.

"There was never any doubt in the minds of the Rangers about the outcome of the series with Toronto," replied Lynn when asked about the Stanley Cup final with the Leafs. "After winning first two games in New York the boys suffered a let-down when the series resumed in Toronto, but we were not worried even after the Leafs beat us those two straight."

TOUGH LEAGUE
Lynn arrived home 30 pounds lighter than when he left for the training camp at Winnipeg last October. He started the season weighing 220 and now tips the scales at 190. "It's a tough league," he laughingly remarked.

Patrick stated he had experienced his best year since joining the Rangers. "I scored less points than in the two previous seasons, but figure I played better hockey," he said.

Muzz had a grand season and proved one of the outstanding defencemen in the Stanley Cup (Turn to Page 20, Col. 6)

Hillcrest Club To Open Courts
The official opening of the Hillcrest Club tennis courts will be held Sunday. A progressive tournament will be staged.

The three clay courts of the club are reported to be in excellent shape and a successful year is anticipated.

There are still a few vacancies in the membership and anyone wishing to join can obtain application forms from any member of the executive.

Westerns Lift Canadian Title

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ways and means of financing a trip to Edmonton and a series with the world-famed Edmonton Grads today confronted Vancouver Westerns, Canada's new senior "B" women's basketball champions.

Brimful of enthusiasm after their victory over Edmonton Graddettes—west pocket edition of the Grads—in a best-of-five series, Westerns are all set to go, but Coach Jack Gordon says he has a few items to iron out first.

Jack expects to know definitely if his team can make the trip before the end of the week.

But trip or not, the Vancouver girls are walking on air today—still talking about their 48 to 38 win over the diminutive Graddettes in the fourth game of the series last night.

They took Graddettes three games to one, with the Alberta titlists slipping in a 42 to 31 victory Wednesday night after Westerns had trimmed them 40 to 26 Saturday and 46 to 31 Monday.

The visitors played hard throughout the series, displaying smart checking and team play, but their opponents had the edge in height. This factor as much as anything accounted for Westerns' victory.

Time and time again, the Vancouverettes snatched the ball from the prairie girls on face-offs.

Graddettes were definitely weak in shooting, with the exception of Laura Strachan, whose long shots were a feature of the series. They broke the Western defence on numerous occasions, but hastily-taken shots lost them many a point.

Teams and scores follow:
Edmonton—V. Ewasukio 10, F. Gordon 6, L. Strachan 14, M. Colville 3, L. Allard 3, P. Covanagh 2, L. Heppner and D. Allan. Total 38.

Vancouver—F. Burnham 3, Thelma Anderson 14, N. Roberts 7, J. Gillies 12, V. Briscoe 6, M. Wells 4, C. MacKenzie 2 and K. Hogue. Total 48.

Meade Reinstated By Kentucky Heads

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Secretary Thomas R. Underwood announced yesterday the Kentucky Racing Commission had reinstated Jockey Don Meade.

Meade, who rode Col. E. H. Bradley's Broker's Tip to win the 1933 Kentucky Derby, probably will ride either Bimelich or Bashful Duck, the colons' 1940 Kentucky Derby nominees.

Meade was ruled off all tracks in 1936 but was reinstated in some states last April. He did not apply for a license in Kentucky last year.

Leafs Leave For Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Vancouver Maple Leafs, a high-flying basketball team that does some of its cross-country traveling by air, open a best-of-five series with Winnipeg St. Andrews here tomorrow night for the western Canada senior men's title.

Leafs will be trying to keep intact the triumphant march that has brought British Columbia the western title every year since 1932.

Victoria Dominoes, last year's Dominion champions, were prevented from making a second bid through disqualification in their home province for playing against several United States teams without first receiving the approval of the B.C. Amateur Basketball Association.

Most of the Leaf players will be taking part in their second western final for two years ago they played with Vancouver Westerns, who won the national crown but later disbanded. Most of the players joined the Leafs in 1932.

All but three members of the Vancouver quintette are scheduled to leave for Winnipeg tonight by airplane. The other three are en route by train.

St. Andrews have won the Manitoba title four years in a row. The Manitoba team is built around Ches McCance, star end of the Blue Bombers football team, and is coached by Bert Oja, a former Bomber star.

The series will be played in the Amphitheatre Rink, with the second game Monday and the third Tuesday. The fourth and fifth games, if necessary, will be played Friday and Saturday. The winners will go east to meet Montreal Y.M.H.A. for the Dominion title in a series opening May 8.

EL MOROCCO SOLD

LONDON (CP)—Sir John Jarvis today announced the sale of his colt El Morocco for 2,000 guineas ($9,345) to the Maharajah of Gwalior. J. Russell will train the colt, a candidate in several of the season's three-year-old fixtures.

The Maharajah, who is 24, is reputed to be the second richest man in the world.

Are Refused Voting Power; Gordon Head

Differences which existed between the Victoria Dominoes Club and the Victoria and District Basketball League last season flared up again last night at the annual meeting of the league in the Y.M.C.A.

Trouble started right at the opening of the session when President George Gordon called for credentials of the delegates. Three members of the Dominoes, Bill Bland, Chuck Chapman and Johnny Johnson presented proxies, while Dave Nicol held the vote for the Dominoes.

President Gordon then informed Bland, Chapman and Johnson their proxies would not entitle them to vote as the Dominoes were still a suspended club and not recognized by organized basketball.

Nicol asked of the president if the league had ever informed the Dominoes of their suspension. Gordon replied that under the circumstances it was hardly necessary. The question of why the Dominoes had never had their $5 affiliation fee was brought up by Bland. After a little arguing President Gordon offered the fee back, but the matter was left at that.

LEAVE MEETING

Following the reading of the annual reports, Bland, Nicol and Chapman walked out of the meeting and Johnson followed them shortly after.

Election of officers resulted in George Gordon being returned to the office of president by acclamation. Jack Taylor was named vice-president; Fred Harding was returned to the office of secretary and the appointment of a treasurer was left in the hands of the executive. Harold Turner and Walter Yeamans were selected members of the executive. Jack Taylor was again chosen as delegate to the Vancouver Island Basketball Association.

In presenting their annual report, the executive stressed the difficulties faced by the league in operating.

One important item mentioned in the report was that dealing with finances. The executive had the following to say: "Your attention is drawn to the fact that of all league games played, only two evenings were we able to take a larger gate than our operating expenses. This leaves no doubt that under the past operating details we must have more revenue than obtained at the door, but that is a policy which must be decided by the future elected executive."

BANK BALANCE $33.05

Just how serious matters are for the league is clearly shown in the financial report. The league opened last season with $394.71, and wound up with $33.05. Of that amount $15 was used up last night in donations, leaving a balance of $18.05 to start next season with.

Harold Turner brought before (Turn to Page 14, Col. 8)

HURLS CHICAGO TO SMART WIN

The Padres blanked the Oaks 5 to 0 last night to narrow Oakland's first-place margin to one-half game.

Dick Newsome, San Diego, who is out in front in coast pitching circles, issued just one hit, a single to Lloyd Christopher, Oakland centre fielder, in the second inning. His near perfect pitching was paced by Padre batters with a single run in the first, two in the eighth and two in the ninth.

The Los Angeles club moved into a tie for third place with Seattle after smashing out five home runs yesterday. To take both ends of a doubleheader from Portland, 16 to 2 and 3 to 2.

Hollywood and Sacramento leveled off in a tie for fifth place after Hollywood put an end to its losing streak by defeating Sacramento 4 to 2.

For the second time this week rain caused postponement of a scheduled San Francisco-Seattle game last night. Club officials said a doubleheader would be played tonight, weather permitting.

Five of the greatest battleships the world has ever seen have been undergoing trials it was announced this week by Britain. Their commission further enhances the unquestioned supremacy of Britain afloat. Launched last year, the five are the King George V, Prince of Wales, Duke of York, Jellicoe and Beatty, exceeded only in size by the Lion and Temeraire and two others not yet named, still under construction, and will displace at least 40,000 tons. The five floating fortresses mount 10 14-inch guns and 16 5½-inch guns. Each will have three aircraft and 1,500 officers and men, with a speed of 30 knots compared to Nelson's 23. Completion raises Britain's capital ship strength to 19, it is stated, and at least four more are being built.

Standings of the six principal navies of the world are indicated in this chart. Naval strength of France more than balances that of Italy; the United States remains well ahead of Japan. Germany's navy has dwindled to proportions where it is hardly a factor. Actual figures are believed much lower than those quoted, which were compiled by as fair a reference as possible to neutral authorities. German claims, German admission of losses and British official reports. Several authorities state Germany has scarcely half a dozen sea-worthy submarines and that the "under construction" figures are merely a boast, unlikely to be carried out.

Adds Eight New

CHEVROLETS

For 1940

HAROLD L. SANGSTER, President and Manager of VETERANS' SIGHTSEEING AND TRANSPORTATION LTD., Says: "The selection of Chevrolets for our Blue Line Taxi & Drive-yourself was made from two points of view—the customers' and our own. The public, naturally, is interested in comfort, appearance and dependability. We are interested in these features, too, but also in operating and upkeep costs. Taking all of these considerations into account, it is quite obvious why we chose the Chevrolet Master-85 and Special De Luxe Sedans to expand the Blue Line fleet."

WHEN LONG LIFE, low cost and high quality count most, SOUND BUYING is important. And all these vital factors point to the new 1940 Chevrolet as the soundest motor car buy for years of dependable service! EYE the new Chevrolet—TRY it on the road—and you'll BUY it for outstanding value. It's the only car that brings you the beauty of "Royal Clipper" styling, the performance of a Super-silent Valve-in-head Engine, the ease of Vacuum Power Gearshifting—at the lowest cost for purchase price, gas, oil and upkeep! All of these considerations were carefully weighed by the Veterans' Sightseeing and Transportation Ltd., operators of the Blue Line, before they ordered their new fleet of Chevrolets.

EYE IT—It's the biggest beauty-leader of the year! All exterior and interior dimensions are greatly increased to give you a much larger and more luxurious and more comfortable motor car in every way!

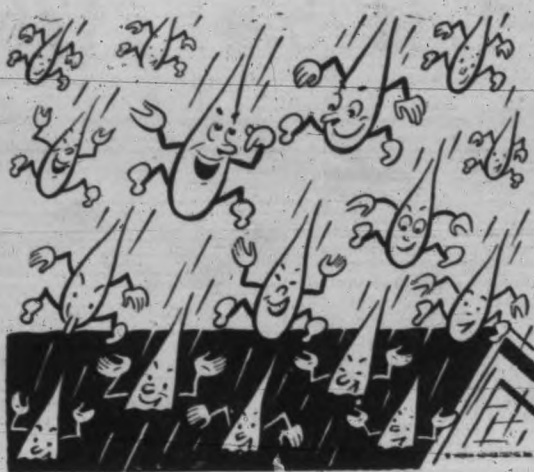

TRY IT—It's the biggest performance-leader of the year! The more than 175 important modern features of the new Chevrolets give new performance, new driving and riding ease—new Chevrolet quality in every detail.

BUY IT—It's the biggest value-leader ever offered to buyers of low-priced cars—even by the builder who has won first place in sales during eight out of the last nine years. It's bigger in every element of worth.

SEEK OPENING FOR COTTONWOOD

Owing to the closing of the Baltic by war operations British Columbia is working on the development of a new branch of forest industry.

After investigation the Department of Trade and Industry through the Bureau of Industrial and Trade Extension, forwarded today a sample shipment of cottonwood logs to the Veneer Chip Basket Trade Association of Great Britain so that same may be put through their machines to see if B.C. cottonwood is comparable to the so-called cottonwood logs purchased in the Baltic area.

The survey was conducted with the co-operation of the B.C. Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association, trade commissioner in Great Britain and the forest branch of the B.C. Department of Lands.

The volume of business will not only depend on the price factor but available ship space. If this business is available it should be of value to the northern area of this province.

A number of factories in Great Britain manufacture baskets out of veneered wood which are used for marketing of soft fruits and other edibles. These factories consume probably up to about 750,000 cubic feet of timber annually. The timber principally used is aspenwood which has been obtainable in large quantities in Russia, Latvia, Estonia and Poland. As these sources are now cut off on account of war, other sources of supplies are now sought.

A permit for $1,400 alterations to premises at 774 Hill Street was issued to J. Raiton today by the city building inspector's office. Late yesterday A. J. Hill secured a permit for a $3,500 five-room home at 1234 Hillside Avenue.

During the past week successful meetings were held by the wardens of District No. 3B Civilian Protection Committee in the City Hall, S. Walker in the chair, and also by the wardens of District No. 1C, Capt. R. S. Johnson in the chair. All aspects of the civilian protection work were discussed. It was realized that district meetings of a similar nature had great value, and it is hoped that all other districts will follow suit. Capt. W. Ellis, C.P.C.O., attended each meeting, and gave an outline of the whole organization.

TOWN TOPICS

Satisfactory progress on renewal of Siphon No. 6, on the Sooke Supply line was reported by Alderman John A. Worthington, water board chairman, following a visit to the project yesterday.

A general meeting of the Victoria and Island Life Underwriters' Association will be held at 6.15 next Tuesday evening at Terry's. The speaker will be J. L. Bennett, president of the New Westminster Life Underwriters' Association.

Under the auspices of the Coordinating Council of the Auxiliary Services a smoking concert will be held tonight at 8 for the crews of visiting ships. The function will be in the rooms of the Army and Navy Veterans who have placed them at the disposal of the services. George Ingledew, chairman of the entertainment committee, is arranging the program.

Members of the Victoria Boys' Band will meet at the Army and Navy Veterans' headquarters, corner of Wharf and Courtney Streets, this evening at 7.30, to play in the program arranged by the Army and Navy Veterans for the entertainment of the officers and men of a visiting ship. Owing to this arrangement, the rehearsal of the boys' band is canceled this week.

The city zoning board of appeal yesterday gave conditional approval to Mrs. Isabella Mowat's request for permission to convert the lower floor of a house at 655 Niagara Street into flats, and provisionally allowed H. S. Roy's appeal to construct a house on Vimy Street with a wall 2 feet from a side property line. The board refused Edward Boyko's appeal to operate a tailor's shop at 756 Bay Street, and turned down plans and specifications for Mrs. Ethel Hammond to convert a dwelling at 332 Vancouver Street into a two-family home.

P.P.C.L.I. GRATEFUL FOR FLASHLIGHTS

Lieut. Col. Gourlay C. Colquhoun, officer commanding the P.P.C.L.I. and formerly of Victoria, has written from Aldershot, England, to Mrs. F. Reeves of Royal Oak, to thank the members of the Royal Oak Women's Institute for a welcome gift of flashlights and batteries sent to the local men in his unit. His letter says, in part:

"Our thanks to yourself and the members of your committee at Royal Oak for the most generous and appropriate gift of 35 flashlights and batteries which were collected today from Mrs. Rorison of Aldershot."

"The men from Victoria are the envy of the rest of my regiment. The flashlights are worth their weight in gold over here. Most of us have most happy memories of Royal Oak, having passed through — on our numerous trips to Heals Ranges and the kindly interest of the local ladies in the unit makes us all homesick."

Mrs. Reeves is the convener of the overseas committee of the Royal Oak Institute.

Let There Be Light

The demand for gas was heavy and the rush to fill orders while the supply lasted was hectic.

But service station attendants at one center took time-out to laugh at a motorist who brought in an empty quart bottle to be filled.

"I don't mind walking," he said, "but I'm not going to do without my cigarette lighter."

Gas Price Order Called Confiscatory

Petroleum Industries of British Columbia, carrying the names of the British American Oil Co. Ltd., B.C. Fuel Company Ltd., Home Oil Distributors Ltd., Imperial Oil Ltd., Shell Oil Company of B.C. Ltd., Signal Oil Company Ltd., Standard Oil Company of B.C. Ltd., McCall-Frontenac Oil Co. Ltd. and Union Oil Company of Canada Ltd. issued this statement today in relation to the government's gas price fixing order.

"When first issued 18 months ago, the order of the Coal and Petroleum Control Board required the sale of gasoline in British Columbia for less than the then prevailing cost, and at prices actually lower than in the California oil fields and elsewhere on the U.S. Pacific coast."

HIGHER COSTS

"Subsequently, costs to the B.C. Petroleum Industry were increased by exchange, by higher water transportation rates and by other war conditions."

"In view of the war-increased costs to the industry the order to set prices that the Coal and Petroleum Control Board arrived at before war began is now more onerous and confiscatory than ever. Therefore, there was no reason for the industry to expect that the order would be made effective, and at such short notice that the various company management would not have time to consult with their head offices and put into effect whatever decisions might be reached."

SUSPEND DELIVERIES

"Accordingly, and so that the industry may not be exposed to the harsh penalties provided for non-compliance with the order, the companies comprising the Petroleum Industries of British Columbia are obliged to suspend deliveries to dealers, and will again endeavor to bring to the attention of the provincial government the fact that prices fixed by the order are materially below cost and would in effect result in confiscation of the companies' businesses without compensation."

ENOUGH ON HAND

"The stocks now in the hands of dealers are sufficient to meet immediate demands. Consequently this action which has been forced upon the companies by reason that they cannot sell at ruinous losses should entail no immediate inconvenience to the public, provided that consumers do not purchase more than their ordinary requirements in line with the usual practice under normal conditions."

"Suitable measures are being planned by the industry to guard against any emergencies that might arise in connection with essential services."

SEEK OPENING FOR COTTONWOOD

Owing to the closing of the Baltic by war operations British Columbia is working on the development of a new branch of forest industry.

After investigation the Department of Trade and Industry through the Bureau of Industrial and Trade Extension, forwarded today a sample shipment of cottonwood logs to the Venerable Chip Basket Trade Association of Great Britain so that same may be put through their machines to see if B.C. cottonwood is comparable to the so-called cottonwood logs purchased in the Baltic area.

The survey was conducted with the co-operation of the B.C. Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association, trade commissioner in Great Britain and the forest branch of the B.C. Department of Lands.

The volume of business will not only depend on the price factor but available ship space. If this business is available it should be of value to the northern area of this province.

A number of factories in Great Britain manufacture baskets out of veneered wood which are used for marketing of soft fruits and other edibles. These factories consume probably up to about 750,000 cubic feet of timber annually. The timber principally used is aspenwood which has been obtainable in large quantities in Russia, Latvia, Estonia and Poland. As these sources are now cut off on account of war, other sources of supplies are now sought.

A permit for $1,400 alterations to premises at 774 Hill Street was issued to J. Ralston today by the city building inspector's office. Late yesterday A. J. Hill secured a permit for a $3,300 five-room home at 1234 Hillside Avenue.

During the past week successful meetings were held by the wardens of District No. 3B Civilian Protection Committee in the City Hall, S. Walker in the chair, and also by the wardens of District No. 1C, Capt. R. S. Johnson in the chair. All aspects of the civilian protection work were discussed. It was realized that district meetings of a similar nature had great value, and it is hoped that all other districts will follow suit. Capt. W. Ellis, C.P.C.O., attended each meeting, and gave an outline of the whole organization.

TOWN TOPICS

Satisfactory progress on renewal of Siphon No. 6, on the Sooke Supply line was reported by Alderman John A. Worthington, water board chairman, following a visit to the project yesterday.

A general meeting of the Victoria and Island Life Underwriters' Association will be held at 6.15 next Tuesday evening at Terry's. The speaker will be J. L. Bennett, president of the New Westminster Life Underwriters' Association.

Under the auspices of the Co-ordinating Council of the Auxiliary Services a smoking concert will be held tonight at 8 for the crews of visiting ships. The function will be in the rooms of the Army and Navy Veterans who have placed them at the disposal of the services. George Ingledew, chairman of the entertainment committee, is arranging the program.

Members of the Victoria Boys' Band will meet at the Army and Navy Veterans' headquarters, corner of Wharf and Courtney Streets, this evening at 7.30, to play in the program arranged by the Army and Navy Veterans for the entertainment of the officers and men of a visiting ship. Owing to this arrangement, the rehearsal of the boys' band is canceled this week.

The city zoning board of appeal yesterday gave conditional approval to Mrs. Isabella Mowat's request for permission to convert the lower floor of a house at 655 Niagara Street into flats, and provisionally allowed H. S. Roy's appeal to construct a house on Vimy Street with a wall 2 feet from a side property line. The board refused Edward Boyko's appeal to operate a tailor's shop at 756 Bay Street, and turned down plans and specifications of Mrs. Ethel Hammond to convert a dwelling at 332 Vancouver Street into a two-family home.

1940 CHRYSLER IS DISTINCTIVE

Owner of New Car Is Object of Envy to His Friends

"I see you drive a Chrysler"—that's what people will say to you whenever you drive in this modern age of high-quality motor cars, now on display at Begg's. The beautiful 1940 Chrysler is a distinctive car—distinctive in design—in the beauty of its low-slung racy lines and the perfect symmetry of its styling from front to rear.

Have you seen the way the lines of the new Chrysler are molded into perfect symmetry at the back of the car? The sweeping effect that it gives? The curved non-glare rear window? The straight-cut rear doors with no cut-away for the fenders? These are only a few of the many brilliant features in the beautiful Chrysler, for again you get the good things first from Chrysler. It's big. It's roomy. It's better and it's a most comfortable car to ride in and drive. Be Modern... Buy Chrysler. Feel that thrilling tingle of pride when people you meet remark—"I see you drive a Chrysler!" See one today at Begg Motors show-rooms.

P.P.C.L.I. GRATEFUL FOR FLASHLIGHTS

Lieut. Col. Gourlay C. Colquhoun, officer commanding the P.P.C.L.I., and formerly of Victoria, has written from Aldershot, England, to Mrs. F. Reeves of Royal Oak, to thank the members of the Royal Oak Women's Institute for a welcome gift of flashlights and batteries sent to the local men in his unit. His letter says, in part:

"Our thanks to yourself and the members of your committee at Royal Oak for the most generous and appropriate gift of 35 flashlights and batteries which were collected today from Mrs. Rorison of Aldershot."

"The men from Victoria are the envy of the rest of my regiment. The flashlights are worth their weight in gold over here. Most of us have most happy memories of Royal Oak, having passed through on our numerous trips to Heals Ranges and the kindly interest of the local ladies in the unit makes us all homesick."

Mrs. Reeves is the convener of the overseas committee of the Royal Oak Institute.

Let There Be Light

The demand for gas was heavy and the rush to fill orders while the supply lasted was hectic.

But service station attendants at one centre took time out to laugh at motorist who brought in an empty quart bottle to be filled.

"I don't mind walking," he said, "but I'm not going to do without my cigarette lighter."

Gas Price Order Called Confiscatory

Petroleum Industries of British Columbia, carrying the names of the British American Oil Co. Ltd., B.C. Fuel Company Ltd., Imperial Oil Ltd., Shell Oil Company of B.C. Ltd., Signal Oil Company Ltd., Standard Oil Company of B.C. Ltd., McCall Frontenac Oil Co. Ltd. and Union Oil Company of Canada Ltd. issued this statement today in relation to the government's gas price fixing order.

"When first issued 18 months ago, the order of the Coal and Petroleum Control Board required the sale of gasoline in British Columbia for less than the then prevailing cost, and at prices actually lower than in the California oil fields and elsewhere on the U.S. Pacific coast."

"Subsequently, costs to the B.C. Petroleum Industry were increased by exchange, by higher water transportation rates and by other war conditions."

"In view of the war-increased costs to the industry, the order to set prices that the Coal and Petroleum Control Board arrived at before war began is now more onerous and confiscatory than ever. Therefore, there was no reason for the industry to expect that the order would be made effective, and at such short notice that the various company managements would not have time to consult with their head offices and put into effect whatever decisions might be reached."

SUSPEND DELIVERIES

"Accordingly, and so that the industry may not be exposed to the harsh penalties provided for non-compliance with the order, the companies comprising the Petroleum Industries of British Columbia are obliged to suspend deliveries to dealers, and will again endeavor to bring to the attention of the provincial government the fact that prices fixed by the order are materially below cost and would in effect result in confiscation of the companies' businesses without compensation."

ENOUGH ON HAND

"The stocks now in the hands of dealers are sufficient to meet immediate demands. Consequently this action which has been forced upon the companies by reason that they cannot sell at ruinous losses should entail no immediate inconvenience to the public, provided that consumers do not purchase more than their ordinary requirements in line with the usual practice under normal conditions."

Suitable measures are being planned by the industry to guard against any emergencies that might arise in connection with essential services."

10-YEAR RECORD FOR LAND SALES

More properties were sold in Victoria during March than during any other previous month in the last 10 years at least, the city assessor-collector's department reported today.

In all, 111 parcels changed hands through direct sales. The next highest total on record was that of March 1930 when the number amounted to 103. From the beginning of the year up to March 31, 261 properties have been sold for an aggregate of $413,637. Of that amount March's 111 deals represented $147,427. The figure was somewhat below February's $134,500 but well above the $56,507 listed in March of last year.

In addition to actual sales, 50 more properties changed hands through transfers of a total value of $104,435 and 14 through wills which covered $49,365 worth of real estate.

The total registered under new names last month aggregated $301,277, bringing the cumulative sum since the beginning of the year through sales, transfers and wills to $943,087.

DEADLINE NEARS FOR TAX REBATES

Prospective home builders were advised today by M. K. Crockett, city lands commissioner, that improvement tax rebates under the National Housing Act could be collected only on premises on which construction has been started by May 30.

The announcement was made chiefly to provide the public with information, and added that forms for the rebates could be secured from the city clerk's office.

Under the scheme improvement taxes are related to the extent of 100 per cent the first year, 50 per cent the second and 25 per cent the third after construction. The arrangement applies only to homes occupied by the builders and of a value less than $4,000.

COMEDY TEAM—Mae West and W. C. Fields in "My Little Chickadee," now at the Dominion Theatre.

SHOES PART OF COMEDIAN'S FUN

Shoes have played an important part in the laugh-life of many comedians, both on stage and screen. Their size, their shape, or more often their lack of shape,
have become the symbol distinguishing a particular funny man.
Stan Laurel, co-starred with Oliver Hardy in "A Chump at Oxford," now at the Atlas
Theatre, uses a very comical device in his pedal gear. All of Stan's shoes, when he is on the set, are bereft of heels. Presented an almost flat surface from stem to stern, they give the comedian a strange rolling gait.
Secondly, they present a woegone appearance.

Mickey Rooney Stars at Capitol

Giving Mickey Rooney his first portrayal of a real-life character, a role in which the boy star has an opportunity to prove that he is a genuine actor, "Young Tom Edson" opens at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow.

Not only does this picture present Rooney with his first biographical role but it is the first role ever given a juvenile player, despite the fact that many adults have played real-life characters repeatedly.

The story is an intense human-interest one, complete in itself, although it covers only the boy-hood of Thomas A. Edison. Replete with comedy, drama, tears, thrills and adventure, it is basically the story of the triumph of a typical American boy who had to show his home folks that he was not the numbskull they believed him to be.

Student Body in Plays Tonight

No finer example of the exquisite fantasy characteristic of the Celtic revival is to be found than in W. B. Yeats' famous whimsical play, "The Land of Heart's Desire," to be presented by the student body at the Normal School this evening. The action takes place on a May eve in old Ireland, when the good people post about the world.

The play is under the direction of Bruce Mickelburgh, president of the school's Dramatic and Debating Society. Miss Gertrude Nelson and Miss Lucia Guidi are in charge of costumes, while Messrs. Jack Drummond, John Lidstone and Doug Williams are in charge of stage properties.
"Poor Man's Orchids," a musical written by Alan Bates, a member of the student body, and a Russian play, Chekov's "On the Highway," will also be presented.

'Atlantic Patrol'

Canadian destroyers have been carrying on strenuously on the Atlantic since the outbreak of war conveying fleets of merchant ships far offshore until relieved by British warships. In order that the people of Canada may know what the Canadian destroyers are doing the Director of Public Information at Ottawa has had a film prepared entitled "Atlantic Patrol." It is one of a series on "Canada Carries On." Many Victorians are serving with the Atlantic Patrol and the film will undoubtedly be popular. It will be shown at the Capitol Theatre starting tomorrow.

'MY CHICKADEE' AT DOMINION

Offering a double-barreled barrage of hilarious comedy and whimsical romance, Mae West and W. C. Fields' new starring picture, Universal's "My Little Chickadee," opens today at the Dominion Theatre.

In a cleverly concocted story set against the picturesque background of the 1880 frontier, the curvaceous Mae and bulbous-nosed Fields cover themselves with new glory in roles custom-tailored to their colorful talents.

Mae portrays a wisecracking
Chicago cabaret singer who causes a tornado of excitement on her arrival in the wild and woolly spaces. Fields is cast as a traveling medicine man and card-sharp who is fascinated by Mae and who struggles valiantly throughout the film to win her affections.

RIO THEATRE

The Sons of the Pioneers, singing and acting quintette featured in Charles Starrett's outdoor action films, are currently to be heard over the Mutual Broadcasting System every Saturday evening. In addition, their transcriptions are broadcast regularly by 209 radio stations throughout the country.

In "North of the Yukon," Star-rett's current vehicle at the Rio Theatre, the Sons of the Pioneers sing four new compositions written by Bob Nolan, their leader.
The songs are "Mahane," "Still Water," "Song of the Waterfall" and "Devil's Great Grandson."

CADET THEATRE

Despite the severity of his sartorial training, Leslie Howard indicated little respect for the conventions when he wore a soft collar with white tie and tails.
The international star of theatre and screen, noted for the perfection of his wardrobe, was nonchalant when he strode on the set of David O. Selznick's "Intermezzo," a Love Story," now at the Cadet Theatre through United Artists release, in faultless formal attire—except for the collar.

Swing Guide For Airplanes

Passengers on a Northwest Airlines plane from the Pacific northwest rode eastward through the night on a radio "beam" that played all the latest swing music.

A brand-new adaptation of the ring antenna and the radio compass—one that makes it fully automatic—made the musical guide possible. For instead of utilizing the airways radio beacons, the pilots simply tuned in regular commercial stations and flew in the direction the radio compass arrow pointed.

The new automatic direction finder, placed in commercial use for the first time on the NWA plane, will point the way the ship should fly while the pilot listens to music or guesses the answers on a quiz program.

If the man at the controls heads his ship so that the needle clings to zero, then after while he will be right over the radio station. At that moment the needle will reverse itself like a neatly-turned flipjack.

After that happens the pilot can either pick out another radio station or start looking for the airport.

The direction finder makes work easier for the pilot, because it heads him in the right direction without the turns to the side and the incidental mathematics now necessary to determine whether he is going forward or backward on the beam.

Also the pilot using this new method not only will have trouble getting lost, but if he does go astray he need only glance at his magnetic compass, tune in a couple of stations on his direction finder and radio the readings to the nearest airport. His exact position, determined by triangulation, will come right back to him.

The direction finder operates from a loop antenna slung under the nose of the plane in a streamlined case.

Ss. Ile de France Prepares for Sea

NEW YORK (AP)—The three huge funnels of the French liner betched forth smoke last night, while 200 painters were hastily finishing camouflage painting the 43,450-ton vessel apparently for wartime service.

Scheduled, according to waterfront reports, to join the British liners Queen Mary and Mauretania in war service, the "Ile" will have her full coat of wartime grey by noon today.

Uncommunicative French sailors boarded the ship yesterday to augment the skeleton crew assigned here when she was laid up here last September 8.

Noted Norwegian Airmen Killed

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Capt. Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen, outstanding Norwegian aviator and explorer, was killed in the first fighting at Oslo's civil airport when Germany invaded Norway, the Norwegian Telegraph Agency, Norsk Telegramby, reported yesterday.

Among other exploits, Riiser-Larsen accompanied Roald Amundsen and General Umberto Nobile on their flights to the North Pole.

It was reported Riiser-Larsen declined to accept German demands to surrender the airport and was killed when he resisted.

At the time of his death he was chief of the Norwegian Air Traffic Company. He had been in the Norwegian navy and for many years in the service of Norway's naval air force.

In January, 1933, he headed an expedition into the Antarctic and was rescued from the ice a couple of months later with his two companions by a Norwegian whaler. He had lost all his equipment and 60 sledges dogs.

Norsk Telegramby also reported yesterday that Lars Bergendal, identified as several times world's skiing champion at various distances, now is engaged in another strenuous activity—guerrilla warfare against the Germans.

Bergendal and members of his home rifle club have organized themselves into ski patrols which include some of the best shots in Norway.

They are reported to have inflicted heavy losses on German columns.

GERMANS LOSE 26 TRANSPORTS

LONDON (CP)—The Ministry of Information announced last night that 26 German transports and supply ships had been sunk by the Allies or scuttled, 10 others hit by torpedoes and probably sunk and one set afire by air attack between April 9 and 22.

Four vessels were captured during that period, the announcement said.

Lives lost in the destruction of these ships, which were used to support the German forces in Norway, were estimated at "several thousand" by the ministry.

Three thousand German dead have been washed ashore on the east coast of Oslo Fjord, the statement added.

Panamanian Ship Sunk

LONDON (CP)—The Panamanian ship Bobbie sank following a collision off the southeast coast of England last night, but its crew of 28 reached a southern port today. The Bobbie, unlisted in Lloyd's Registry, collided with the 1,083-ton Netherlands ship Midland.

Press Inspects Warship at Work

Touring western Canadian newspapermen, who this week are inspecting the British Columbia coast defenses were today getting a first-hand view of a warship operating under actual war conditions.

Shepherded by naval officers from the Pacific Coast station the group of news writers and cameramen left the navy yard early this morning for an all-day cruise in the straits to be initiated into the mysteries of modern naval operations.

They inspected the ship from engine room to fire-control tower and were treated to an exhibition of heavy armament gunnery and contact with coast forts apart from the customary phases associated with fleet maneuvers.

Service operations of the Fishermen's Reserve also came within the purview of the newspapermen during the day.

WELCOMED BY COMMODORE

Commander Victor G. Brodeur, R.C.N., commanding officer of the Pacific Coast naval establishments, yesterday entertained the visiting newsmen at luncheon at the navy yard.

In extending a welcome to the press, Commander Brodeur said the Royal Canadian Navy was preparing for the future by instituting on the coast complete facilities for the training of Canadian youth desiring to follow a career in the senior service.

He felt that the visitors would take away with them a well-balanced idea of what the three services, the navy, army and air force, were striving for on the Pacific coast.

The luncheon proved a pleasant break in the itinerary arranged by Major Thomas Weyling, chief press liaison officer, Department of Defence, Ottawa in charge of the tour.

The newspapermen were greeted at the naval barracks on arrival by Commander R. I. Agnew, R.C.N., of H.M.C.S. Naden; Commander A. C. Wurtele, R.C.N., and Commander E. Brock, R.C.N., of the naval intelligence branch, Ottawa.

In the afternoon the newspapermen were shown over the dockyard by Commander F. G. Hart, R.C.N.

Later they inspected the ship-building operations at Yarrow's Ltd. and the Victoria Machinery Depot, which firms are building a fleet of auxiliary war vessels.

At Yarrow's the visitors were shown over the plant by Norman A. Yarrow, managing director; John Cameron and E. W. Izard, while at the Victoria Machinery Depot the operations were explained by Herbert S. Hammill, secretary, and R. P. Desant, superintendent.

SANDY McLEAN TAKES TO AIR

Alex P. (Sandy) McLean, Victoria managener, took his first airplane flight yesterday and found it to be one of the highlights of his life.

Mr. McLean flew from here by Canadian Airways plane yesterday to Vancouver to board a train for Halifax, N.S., from where he plans to sail for his native Scotland.

"It was a little nervous at first, but the longer the flight continued the more I enjoyed it. I was sorry when it was over," he told the pilot on his arrival at Vancouver.

Mr. McLean is quite a character and was formerly employed by the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway as pump man and engineer. He has been on the "tired list" for many years and resides with his son on Aldridge Street, Mount Talmie.

Despite his age, Mr. McLean is quite active and he has been in the habit of calling regularly at the E. and N. offices for his pension, frequently walking from Mount Talmie to the city for the purpose. The pension list gives his age at "Over 90," it was stated at the company's offices.

At Vancouver his age was given as 79.

Mr. McLean returns to Scotland, the land of his birth, whenever he is able to.

On the last occasion he went to his Scottish home about three years ago, he is reported to have entered a walking competition in Aberdeen, coming in third.

Ship Machine-gunned

LONDON (CP)—The 2,840-ton British steamship Sheaf Don reached a northeastern port today after being machine-gunned by a German warplane while in convoy in the North Sea. There were no casualties. The raider was driven off by fire from escorting war-craft.

miral Graf Spee, pounded by a severe storm in the River Plata a week ago, has taken a pronounced list and appears about to capsize in the muddy waters off this port.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Lower prices at Chicago due to reports of rain in the United States wheat belt and further liquidation of Joan wheat had a depressing effect on Winnipeg wheat futures quotations today. Values began slipping at the opening bell and finished 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents lower, May at 89 1/2, July 90 1/2 and October 92 1/2.

Spreading operations between Chicago and Winnipeg provided most of the action in the pit here although exporters displayed moderate interest at times. Despite the apparent lack of definite export support, it was believed that about 350,000 bushels had been sold overseas during the night and early today. Chicago lost about a cent while Buenos Aires slipped more than a cent.

Price spreads held almost unchanged in the cash wheat market although a good demand was exhibited for No. 1 hard, No. 4 northern, No. 5 wheat and some of the garnets.

General liquidation weakened all coarse grain prices but those of flax. Traders attributed a sharp break in May oats to the transfer of holdings to deferred months.

Wheat shipments from the Argentine totaled 2,997,000 bushels against 2,651,000 cleared last week and 4,285,000 shipped during the corresponding period a year ago.

Leggings Help Guard Against Rattles

If you go through woods or travel about mountains where there is danger of meeting rattlesnakes, take special care! About 75 per cent of all bites of poisonous snakes are on the legs, chiefly below the knee.

Leggings and high-topped shoes will help to cut down the danger of being bitten. If a snake tries to bite, its teeth may not cut through the flesh. Even a pair of overalls, hanging well down over the ankles, may save one who steps into danger. Of course they are not a certain guard.

It seems clear that snakes do not "chase" people, though they may bite when someone comes close to them. There is no snake which can crawl as fast as a man can run.

About one-fifth of the bites of poisonous snakes are on the hands or arms. If you lie down to rest in "the wilds," don't lie on a snake, and don't stretch out your hands where a snake may lie in wait.

The bite of a rattlesnake is deadly. If the poison fangs go into a vein or artery, it means almost sure death in a few minutes. Happily, a snake does not often bite into a vein or artery.

If possible a doctor should be called to help anyone bitten by a rattler or water moccasin. Before he arrives a necktie or handkerchief should be tied around the leg or arm, about the bite. It should be tight enough to shut off flow of blood in veins, but not tight enough to close arteries. It should be loosened once in 20 minutes, for a minute, then tightened again.

The victim is advised to lie still while under treatment. Some way of drawing the poison from the wound should be found. One thing made for this purpose is a rubber bulb on a small glass funnel. When the bulb is pressed it draws out blood with poison in it.

Red Cross experts advise a person to cut the flesh above the fang marks, so blood will flow freely. Such cutting should be done with a blade which has been sterilized by a match flame, or by rubbing alcohol. The cut should be about an eighth of an inch deep, or just a bit more. Care must be taken not to cut a vein.

That may seem like "rough treatment," but it is better than to let a person die from the bite of a poisonous snake.

ANSWER: Sleight of hand-trickery.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — Mother has been a widow for several years, and, as she is very good-looking, intelligent and well-to-do financially, she has had many offers of marriage. She now has an especially comfortable offer, but it is just comfortable and she is very doubtful about whether to accept it or not or to wait to meet some man who can give her a beautiful home, fine things, travel and so forth. What do you think?

A DAUGHTER.

Answer: Personally, I do not see why any woman ever marries under any circumstances unless she is so much in love with a man that she feels that life without him will be dust and ashes in her teeth.

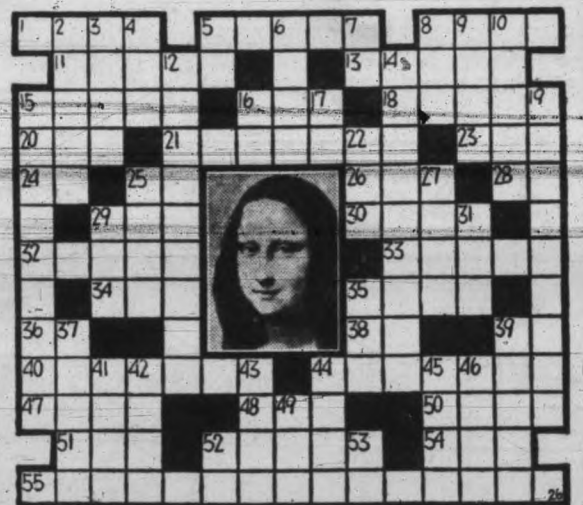

I think that the woman who marries just to get a meal ticket makes a sorry bargain, and that she would find it easier to earn her own bread and butter in a store or office than by having to work for a living in some man's kitchen and having to put up with his whims and tempers besides.

So my advice to your mother is not to marry any man unless she is so enamored of him that she feels that she cannot exist without him. As she is sitting pretty, why risk the happiness she has? She has her children for company. She has enough money on which to live comfortably. She has perfect liberty to do as she pleases. She doesn't have to consult any man's pleasure nor put up with any man's disposition. So it seems to me that she will be a wise dame if she lets well enough alone.

As for waiting for some man to come along who can give her everything that she desires, that's taking a long shot on a good thing. Fairy Princes are not plentiful, and when they do come riding by their choice is likely to fall on some pretty young girl, not a widow with half-grown children. The men who court well-to-do widows generally have an eye on the lady's pocketbook instead of their having fat wallets of their own to offer.

DOROTHY DIX.

HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, APRIL 27

Mingled good and adverse planetary aspects are discerned in today's horoscope. The morning may be marked by indecision and a tendency to be discouraged over obligations incurred in connection with business, but the evening is fortunate.

This may be a day of small difficulties due to irritability or discontent among members of the family. It is an auspicious date for dining with friends, and especially for girls who accept invitations from eligible young men. The stars preface romance and promise future interest. Haste will characterize courtships at this time, however.

This is emphatically a day for planning future projects and the expansion of well-established enterprises. The stars predict large returns from the earth. New discoveries of oil will bring fortune to many persons. Prospectors will profit through mines in which rare minerals used in manufacturing are produced.

Eire will continue to cause anxiety for the British government. The conjunction of Jupiter and Uranus in 1941 is believed to be the date when final settlement of unrest is attained. The health of the people may be unsatisfactory through the summer, for outbreak of an epidemic is forecast. Warning is given that violence will delay progress of the Irish people.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of gain. The young will find the right employment. Real estate will be profitable.

Children born on this day probably will be ambitious, energetic and industrious. Many of these Taurean subjects have varied talents and succeed in executive positions.

Present edition of the Rangers is the finest club Lynn has ever played with. Lynn reminded us that Lester had made the remark the present Rangers are the finest-balanced club he has ever managed.

Lynn informed us that Lester plans to use the same club next season. He has already announced there will be no changes in the personnel of the world champions.

When queried for the outstanding Ranger players in the finals Lynn named goalie Dave Kerr, forward Phil Watson and defenseman Ott Heller. Rookie Hank Goldup stole the spotlight from the remainder of the Toronto regulars in the finals, Patrick said.

Majority of teams in the N.H.L. experienced a big year. The exceptions were Detroit and Montreal.

Lynn expressed surprise when informed the Rangers had sold goalie Bert Gardiner of their Philadelphia farm team to Montreal Canadiens. "If you can quote me as saying the Canadiens have already got half a hockey team when they secured Gardiner," Patrick stated.

It is pretty hard to get Lynn to talk hockey. His big interest now is his baby son. "I will sure be glad to get him out here for some of this swell sunshine. He doesn't get any in New York, you know."

How to Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from Modern Pharmacy or Cunningham Drug Stores or any drug-gist, a package of Hemoroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemoroid is highly recommended—try it—use it—and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use, may be had at such a reasonable cost.
